THINGS WORTH SEEING

One of the strongest vaudeville bills ever seen in Boston will inaugurate the London Music Hall Policy at the Orpheum Theatre next week. This policy which has proven so popular in New York and English cities means the presentation of fourteen all star acts in practically the same time as is now consumed by one-half that number of acts. The head-line on the inauguration bill will be the great Severin who is not as yet known to Boston theatre-goers. It is safe to say, however, that before the week is over he will be the most talked of man in Boston. With a company of forty-two French pantomimists, Severin presents a wordless drama in four acts. The whole consumes fifty minutes. During that time the wonderful pantomimist without uttering a word holds the audience enthralled. He needs no voice to convey his meaning to the audience for his facial expression and gestures do that so clearly that nothing at all is left in doubt. Another big feature will be R. G. Knowles, the humorous traveller. Mr. Knowles has been termed the international comedian, for he is just as popular the other side of the water as he is in America, in fact he is the man who popularizes American humor in England. Winsor McCay, the Metropolitan cartoonist and originator of the "Dream of The Rarebit Fiend" and "Little Nemo," will present some of his inimitable sketches. Mr. McCay's acts while showing his genius as a pen artist are chock full of humor. May Ward and her eight Dresden Dolls is another number that is worthy of a head-line position. This is the first time the act has been seen here in vaudeville and it combines new songs with a medley of old minstrelsy and plantation dancers. England has contributed to American vaudeville many stars, but it is doubtful if a person more popular has ever come over than Daisy Harcourt. She is in a class by herself and will share the honors with the other big acts. The balance of the bill is of the head-line variety and includes May Duryea and company in "The Imposter," Seymour & Hill, Evans & Evans, Virginia and Vivion and others. The bill consists of fourteen big acts and owing to the length of the program, the performance will start at 1.30 in the afternoon and at 7.30 in the evening. There will be no waits and no encores. Rapid action will be the rule from start to finish.

Klaw & Erlanger's superb production at the Colonial this week is having its first presentation in Boston. For three weeks in Philadelphia and for sixteen weeks in New York the play has filled the houses in which it has been presented. The amusing comedy provided by Harry B. Smith's clever book, is in the hands of some well known comedians, chief of whom are, a popular trio of fun makers, Joseph Cawthorn, a star familiar all over the country, who plays Dr. Pill; Billy B. Van, who has the role of Flip, the bold, bad youngster, he of the big cigar in Nemo's feverish dreams, and Harry Kelly, a comical nimble-footed comedian, and one of the most eccentric dancers on the stage, in the character of the Dancing Missionary. The spectacular part of "Little Nemo," is a strong feature, and there is reason in the stage story for each of the magnificent scenes introduced. As the curtain rises the whole stage is ablaze with fireworks—really electric lights, but as effective as the real kind—while a glowing presentation of the face of the Father of His Country appears in the blaze of glory.

Another scene, realistically showing the deck of an American battleship, with its great guns protruding from the turrets and a crowd of bluejackets aboard, is one that stirred New York and is likely to make navy-admiring Boston applaud and cheer when the men break out with an inspiring, soul-stirring chorus, asking the nation to "Give us a fleet! Give us the ships! The men will do the rest!" Cheer. They howled in New York over this, and if patriotic Boston does not do the same it will be queer indeed.

At the Castle Square the "Circus Girl" is still the same triumphant success. Mr. Craig, in view of the tremendous demand for seats, which shows not the slightest sign of lessening, will give this popular musical comedy as long as the public demands it, and that means at least another week beginning next Monday afternoon. Its great success is unprecedented, and standing room only has been the cry for performance. It should be remembered that "The Circus Girl" is given every afternoon and evening of every day in the week, and that for ladies and children the matinees are especially attractive. When the coming week is over "The Circus Girl" will have had no less than sixty-five consecutive performances at the Castle Square.

The longest-liked of George Cohan's numerous plays, "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," is introduced at the Globe. This time it brings Frances Gordon in the part of "Plain Mary," and Scott Welsh for "Kid" Burns. All the entertaining features of old are with the show.

Jack Shepard, "The Bandit King," A. H. Woods' greatest and most sensational melodramatic production, will be next week's attraction at the Boston Grand Opera House. There are four acts and twenty scenes of heart-throbbing sensations, surprising climaxes, bewildering stage illusions and dazzling electrical effects, through which is threaded one of the prettiest stories ever told on the stage, a story of love and devotion, of honor and duty, of might against right and heroism and villainy.

Keith's offers a very attractive vaudeville show this week.

This is the closing week of the "Follies of 1908," at the Tremont, and Louise Gunning continues at the Majestic with "Marcelle." "The Devil," with Edwin Stevens, makes this his last week at the Hollis Street. Fannie Ward in "The New Lady Bantock," remains at the Park. Amusement of the burlesque variety is offered at the Gaiety, Palace, Columbia and Howard.

SHOPPING NEWS

Of the many show places in Boston none surpasses in interest the store of the Russian Importing Co., at 429 Boylston St., for in point of view of artistic interest it resembles far more an art gallery than a mercantile establishment. The products of Russian Art and Industries offer a convincing proof that the vast empire is rich in men with ideas and ideals, and the display of goods is not only dazzling in beauty, but it offers an opportunity to gladden the hearts of young and old with gifts that may serve both ornamental and utilitarian purposes.

Charles E. Lauriat Co., have now got their handsome Bookstore, opposite Franklin St., entirely rearranged after the Christmas rush and many counters and shelves filled with books, which for one reason or another it is their policy to close out during the present month at whatever price is necessary to accomplish this object. Their stock inventory takes place Feb. 1, and the next two or three weeks will give book lovers such an opportunity as is not often put in their way.

It will be interesting to the ladies to see the military white crepe waists which Miss Fisk, of the Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is opening this week, also, the net waists in navy, brown, taupe and white for cloth suits—one other model of white batiste with waist and sleeves, 3-4 inch tucks, is sure to be greatly admired.

The Art and Novelty Shop, at 368 Boylston Street, are showing something different from anything ever seen in this city before, in the line of Mission Lamps and Art Novelties. No end of goods to choose from.

Hewins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co's., 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

Macullar Parker Company, at 400 Washington Street, besides showing a full line of fine Furnishing Goods, pay special attention to Wedding Outfits. for Groom and Ushers.

Individuality in tailored costumes, as in other goods, is always the aim of L. P. Hollander & Co., at their Boylston St. store. They are showing at the present time the largest collection of fine suits in individual pieces that they have ever been able to get together. In addition to this, they have had made specially for them Suits in Broadcloths and Novelty Woolens that are different from anything in this line shown in Boston.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., are showing a large assortment of Trunks, Bags and Leather Goods. Their prices are right, too.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

A light French play of intrigue, "Love Watches," is seen for the first time here at the Hollis Street this week. The piece is sprightly and diverting in character, episode and dialogue, with Miss Billie Burke as the leading lady. She will be remembered with John Drew last season. Previously she played in London with great successes and this season she stars under the direction of Charles Frohman. The comedy drama in which she acts, was adapted by Gladys Unger. Ernest Lawford plays the part of the scholar, an important character in the pleasing show.

Another play for the first times in this city has come to the majestic, "The Pied Piper," with De Wolf Hopper, who returns after 10 years' absence. The piece is a fantastic musical play that tells what happened, or might have happened, after the piper had descended on the villagers of Hamelin and lured their children away. In the weird and strange country to which he guides them all things are possible, even to curious visitors from New York arriving by airship. The part taken by Mr. Hopper gives opportunity for his familiar talents and his well known voice.

Victor Moore in George M. Cohan's musical play, "The Talk of New York," at the Tremont, is found to be the same delightfully songy "Kid" Burns, who won the heart of Mary in Cohan's "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." Mr. Cohan has wisely brought forward this character of the "Kid," and in its present amplification and enlargement, Victor Moore finds an excellent starring vehicle to exhibit his talents. "The Talk of New York" contains an unusual collection of catchy songs and lively and spirited ensemble numbers. The same company is here that played the piece four months each in New York and Chicago.

Hattie Williams in "Fluffy Ruffles," comes to the Park, after successful appearances for a long time in New York. It is a musical comedy made about a figure from the "Sunday Supplements," and setting a girl, through sundry humorous and amatory adventures.

"The Time, the Place, and the Girl," which is at the Globe this week, brings Arthur Dunn of comedy fame here as a top-liner of the act. Mr. Dunn appears as a care-free gambler, whose vocabulary is characteristic of the kind who corners all situations when he finds himself caught at a quarantined sanitarium.

"The Time, the Place, and the Girl" is a most striking production in many ways. It is a new and pleasing departure and there is nothing similar to it on the stage today. It is unlike any other production.

containing an interesting theme and presenting a pretty story in a manner that holds the interest of the audience throughout. There are number of the most pleasing musical numbers rendered by a talented company. The chorus comes from the La Salle School, noted for finished singers and dancers. "The Time, the Place, and the Girl" was presented over 465 times at the La Salle Theatre, Chicago, and has won the world's record in displaying the "Sold-Out" sign.

The wonderful bill that was presented at the Orpheum Theatre last week inaugurating the London Music Hall Policy proved such a surprise to the theatre-going public that many predicted that the remarkable pace in the quality of the show could not be maintained but the reception which was accorded the policy during the week and its instantaneous success has induced the management to redouble its efforts to provide the best obtainable with the result that next week's bill will be even above the standard established last week. The long-awaited Mrs. Brown Potter will make her first appearance in Boston in the picturesque novelty popularized by her on the London stage. Mrs. Brown Potter's social connections are such that enormous sums of money were offered her by New York multi-millionaires to forego her stage career and identify herself with society, but she has persistently refused and Boston will have an opportunity of seeing this remarkable woman. No vaudeville act for years has caused so much comment as Mrs. Brown Potter's has. Society gasped when it was announced that she would appear before the foot-lights and the general public showed its eagerness to see her by the crowded house at her every appearance in New York. On the bill with her will be Miss May Tully and company in the one-act play, "Stop, Look and Listen." Miss Tully is one of the most versatile character and emotional actresses on the stage. Sydney Grant in his new monologue will furnish enough amusement to satisfy the most critical. Zay Holland with his violin will appeal particularly to the music-loving world, while Williams' and Walker's "Chocolate Drops" with King and Bailey as the star features will furnish its quota of fun to the entertainment. Every other act on the bill is of the highest possible quality. There are fourteen of them and the program is of such length that the time for the performance will continue the same as last week, at 1.30 in the afternoon and at 7.30 in the evening.

With this week at the Castle Square, "The Circus Girl" will break all records at that house. It will have run six weeks and a half, the longest continuous engagement of any one play, and it will have had no less than seventy-seven performances by the John C. Stock Company. Afternoon and evening the theatre is filled to overflowing with people of all ages who have taken the greatest delight in the mirthful scenes and in the scenic spectacle of "The Circus Girl," and the demand for seats still shows no sign of lessening.

"The End of the Trail" is the title of the play at the Grand Opera House.

"Little Nemo" continues at the Colonial Theatre. This is one of the best musical shows in Boston. It is said that this production was produced at a cost of $100,000.

Keith offers a very fascinating vaudeville show.

A lot of fun is obtained from a visit to the burlesque houses, Gaiety, Columbia, Howard and Palace.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

The first performances of "Love Watches," with Miss Billie Burke, is at the Hollis Street Theatre this week instead of last, the change having been made owing to the indisposition of Miss Burke. "Love Watches" is a light French play of intrigue and will be seen for the first times here. The piece is sprightly and diverting in character, episode and dialogue. Miss Billie Burke will be remembered with John Drew last season. Previously she played in London with great successes and this season she stars under the direction of Charles Frohman. The comedy drama in which she acts, was adapted by Gladys Unger. Ernest Lawford plays the part of the scholar, an important character in the pleasing show.

Hattie Williams in "Fluffy Ruffles" at the Park Theatre is proving a big success, and is drawing big crowds to see her. "Fluffy Ruffles" is by John McNally, the author of Roger Bros. successes, and is founded on the adventures of a young woman whose attractiveness interfered with her business success, but who in the end solves the vexing problem by forsaking business for matrimony. It is a lively, dashing role in which Miss Williams is peculiarly happy because of her attractive personality and her vivacity. It affords her some splendid songs that have already been accepted as the big hits of the season, among them "Willie's Got Another Girl Now," "Evolution," "Fluffy Ruffles," and "Won't You Harmonize With Me?" Manager Charles Frohman sends Miss Williams here with the big company of seventy fun-makers that helped to make the New York engagement so notable. The original Criterion theatre costumes and stage settings will be seen here. In the cast are such well known entertainers as William Norris, Bert Leslie, Jack Gardner, John Bunny, Victor LeRoy, Marion Abbott, Nellie Butler, Josephine Drake, Marie Dennis, Mattie O'Brien and Violet Heming.

The pace established by the Orpheum Theatre in the inauguration of its London Music Hall Policy will be continued next week with another all star bill of fourteen big acts. There are so many good numbers on the bill that it is almost impossible to select a head-liner but those who have seen John C. Rice and Sally Cohen in their new Winslow comedy, "The Bachelor's Wife," will agree that first position ought to go to them. They are both funsters of the first order and they are never known to fail in their efforts to entertain the most critical. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lucas, the well known portrayors of Dickens' characters is another number on the bill worthy of head line position. They will present their "Scenes from Dickens" which was such a tremendous success in England. Their engagement in Boston will be for one week only although that time will prove too short to offer their friends an opportunity to see them. Edith Helen, the altitudinous soprano is so called because she has been conceded to have the highest soprano voice in the world. She will offer some of the best selections from her extensive repertoire. Will Dill, the man with a thousand songs and then some more, proved such a success last week that he is to be held over for the coming week. He will sing some brand new songs of his own composition. Much comedy will be added to the bill by Searle Allen and company presenting "The Travelling Man." This act is full of quiet humor and is practically a continual laugh from start to finish. Murphy and Farness, clever comedians, and seven other big acts will complete a bill as fast and strong as anything ever seen in Boston for a long while. The time for performances will remain the same, 1.30 in the afternoon, and 7.30 in the evening.

Nothing but superlatives will suffice to give a satisfactory idea of the great success of "The Circus Girl" at the Castle Square. Ever since Christmas Eve that delightful musical comedy has run to audiences that filled the Castle Square Theatre to the doors, and from appearances this state of things might continue indefinitely. Its popularity is phenomenal, it has broken all records at the Castle Square and there would appear to be no limit to its success. On Monday begins the seventh week of its run, and although more than one hundred and twenty thousand people have already seen "The Circus Girl," many more are clamoring to see it. Moreover it is an entertainment that pleases so well that many are impelled to see it again and again. It is no wonder that Mr. Craig has withdrawn all his other plans, and gives the public "The Circus Girl" as long as they want to see that great musical comedy. Songs, music, spectacle and dancing, are its chief features, and there is not a dull moment in from beginning to end.

"The Candy Kid," Kilroy & Britton's big musical melodrama which was one of the big successes of last season, will be next week's attraction at the Boston Grand Opera House. "The Candy Kid" is credited with being the most elaborate production of its nature now on the road. It is novel, and overflows with humor, music, dancing and powerful dramatic situations, besides having a melodramatic story of great strength. Mr. Williard Frances, the rising young singing comedian, will play the role of "The Candy Kid."

Eva Tanguay is the leading feature at Keith's and her artistic presentation is certain to attract large and enthusiastic audiences.

Victor Moore as "Kid Burns" in "The Talk of New York," at the Tremont makes this his last week. The present is the final week of DeWolf Hopper in "The Pied Piper," at the Majestic, and "Lit Nemo" continues at the Colonial.

At the Globe, "The Time, the Place, and the Girl" plays during the week.

There are no dull minutes at the Howard, Palace, Columbia and the Gaiety, where the burlesque companies hold forth.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is one of the most attractive stores of its kind we have seen. A good assortment of trunks, bags, suit cases and other leather goods are kept constantly in stock. Repairing is also done by skilled workmen. Courteous attention is given those who are only looking, and the prices are right too.

Charles E. Lauriat Co. close their bookstore for the annual stock inventory on Saturday, January 30, and reopen on Monday morning, February 1, with their counters and shelves full of the books that have been picked out during the inventory for immediate sale. Bargains will be the rule and early visitors get the first choice.

The Russian Importing Co., 429 Boylston St., offers an assortment of old and modern jewels, brass, copper, hand-made lace, needle and linen work in endless variety, also wood in endless variety of objects both useful and ornamental, and always unique and artistic without a peer in this country. The genius of a whole empire can be seen at our establishment. Visitors always welcome.

It will be interesting to the ladies to see the military white crocheted waists which Miss Fisk, of the Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is opening this week, also, the net waists in navy, brown, taupe and white for cloth suits—one other model of white batiste with waist and sleeves, 3-4 inch tucks, is sure to be greatly admired.

The Art and Novelty Shop, at 368 Boylston St., are showing the finest line of Valentines we have ever seen, also Arts and Crafts Jewelry and Mission Lamps. This shop is well worth visiting, nothing like it anywhere in Boston.

Hewins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Weltch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office, railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

Macullar Parker Company, at 400 Washington Street, besides showing a full line of fine Furnishing Goods, pay special attention to Wedding Outfits, for Groom and Ushers.

Individuality in tailored costumes, as in other goods, is always the aim of L. P. Hollander & Co., at their Boylston St. store. They are showing at the present time the largest collection of fine suits in individual pieces that they have ever been able to get together. In addition to this, they have had made specially for them Suits, Broadcloths and Novelty Woolens that are different from anything in this line shown in Boston.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

At the Tremont Theatre "A Waltz Dream" ("Ein Walzertraum") will be seen for the first time in this city. The composer, Oscar Strauss, is hailed in Vienna and other continental capitals as a worthy successor of the illustrious waltz king. The English book and lyrics have been prepared from the original of Felix Dormann and Leopold Jacobson, by Joseph W. Herbert. "A Waltz Dream" has been a tremendous success in Vienna for nearly two years and has achieved a tremendous success at the Broadway Theatre, New York, where it layed to record business for several months. The operetta is said to possess the real spirit of Vienna gayety, its poetic imaginings and sensuous cadences. The waltz movement, as a matter of course prevails with many pretty musical numbers written either in valse time or in the dashing style so characteristic of the Viennese operetta.

The company includes Henry V. Donnelly, Joseph W. Herbert, Henry Coote, Lawrence Coever, Bruce Smith, Sophie Brandt, Jessie Sadler and Octavia Broski. The operetta is said to be very handsomely staged, the costumes are rich and effective and the settings are sumptuous. A large chorus and an augmented orchestra are promised.

John Mason in Augustine Thomas' famous telepathic drama, "The Witching Hour," comes to the Majestic. The play is one of the theatrical prizes of the year, and comes with the same supporting cast and scenic detail as produced in the remarkable run of one year at the Hackett Theatre, New York City.

Mr. Mason will, of course, be seen in his original part of Brookfield, the hypnotic gambler, a character study that has not only proven hypnotic on the stage, but truly hypnotic with the public as well, for Mr. Mason in his just-concluded metropolitan engagement held the interest of his auditors nightly at one theatre all last season and a part of the present season. The supporting players are Russ Whytal, Geo. Gaston, Amelia Gardner, Ethel Winthrop, Julia Hay, Geo. Nash, E. L. Talton, Freeman Barnes and others.

A delightful vaudeville bill is in store for the patrons of the Orpheum Theatre this week, for seldom has there been crowded into one bill as many all star features as there will be at the Orpheum. Ezra Kendall, the inventive comedian, will top the bill, although there are several other features that might well occupy that position. Mr. Kendall is too well known in the theatrical world to need much comment. He is without doubt the most original man on the stage. His witty sayings have become by-words and his jokes are used by more artists than those of any other composer in the business. He will be heard in a new monologue which needless to say will be absolutely original. A sensation in vaudeville is the Apache dance which has created such a furore in Paris and New York. There have been other Apache dances but the one that will be at the Orpheum this week is the original and real Apache dance. The principals in the dance are Mrs. G. Malasso and Mlle. Corio and they are assisted by a company of thirty-five. It is not only one of the most artistic features of vaudeville but it is also one of the biggest. The society singer incognito? is sure to cause much discussion as to her identity during her engagement at the Orpheum. She is a Chicago woman and through pride is concealing her name. Beyond that nothing is known of her history. She is a beautiful singer and judging from her appearance with the mask or is also a beautiful woman. The remainder of the bill will include Mr and Mrs. Arthur Forbes in a new sketch, Gardner and Stoddard in vaudeville frivolities, Lamberti, the master musician, Farsio Trio Harding and Ah Sid and Mlle. Olive and eight others.

At the Grand Opera House is "The Boy Detective," a new melodrama, with "Johnnie Hoey" in the chief part.

This is the last week but one of "Little Nemo," at the Colonial and it will not appear in any other New England theatre.

This is the last week of the remarkable run of "The Circus Girl," at the Castle Square Theatre.

Hattie Williams continues at the Park in "Fluffy Ruffles." "The Happy Marriage" continues at the Hollis Street in the absence of "Billie" Burke in "Love Watches." The substitute has proved very popular.

Eva Tanguay has her second week at Keith's. The Palace, Gaiety Howard and Columbia offer burlesque of sterling quality.

Cohan & Harris' Minstrels open at the Boston Theatre with Raymond Hitchcock and a company of one hundred. Owing to the sudden illness of Mr. George Evans, Mr. Hitchcock has taken his place temporarily to work for the first time, professionally, in "Black-face." At the Lambs' "Gambols" "Hitchie" has frequently donned burnt cork and his professional debut in this form of entertainment is being keenly anticipated.

It is good to observe that the best and most time-honored traditions of minstrelsy have been carefully preserved by young Mr. Cohan to whom all credit for the production of the show belongs.

The first part, with all its essential flamboyance and exaggerated elegance, has been retained in its most luxuriant estate. The black face, low comedy afterpiece has been restored by Mr. Cohan, who excels in this class of burlesque. So has the moonlight dancing specialty and the burnt cork monologue. The interpolated vaudeville specialties are in no sense out of tune with the general design of the programme. There is a liberal supply of tuneful music, admirably sung, a great deal of humor, of the kind associated with minstrelsy and much novelty, to give it a present day appeal. Cohan & Harris Minstrels may be a little shy on philosophy and psychological analysis but audiences with the least affection for the good old institution of minstrelsy will find pleasure in this, its richest development.

Mr. Hitchcock is supported by Eddie Leonard, America's greatest dancer and end man, and these veteran minstrels and end men, John King, Ernest Tenney, and Alf. Gibson, who are surrounded by several score singers in the first part. The vaudeville or olio portion of the performance introduces Julian Eltinge, female impersonator, who has an international reputation as the supreme artist in this line of characterization; Waterbury Bros. & Tenney present a new musical act and Rice and Provost introduce their celebrated acrobatic comedy "Bump the Bumps;" Eddie Leonard, assisted by fifty dancers, and the two Gordon boys, appear in a new dancing number, while James Gordon presents a new march, entitled "After the Battle," in which the entire company takes part. The afterpiece runs for thirty minutes. It is George M. Cohan's "The Bells of the Barbers' Ball," and shows him in his best vein as a comedian and lyricist. The singers include Frank Morrell, famous here and abroad as "That Tenor;" Matt Keefe, the warbler; Earl J. Benham, and many others. The orchestra of eighteen musicians, under the direction of Carl Schilling, is one of the special features.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Miss Billie Burke has recovered from her indisposition and after long delay will present positively this week at the Hollis Street Theatre, "The Love Watches," a light French play of intrigue, sprightly and diverting in character, episode and dialogue. Miss Burke as the young girl makes an innocent and puzzled young scholar means to checkmate her husband, alarm a dowager and perturb an abbe. Ernest Crawford plays the scholar, and other members of the company are Claude Odell, formerly of the Castle Square Stock Company, and Edna Drew.

A great deal has been said in praise of the Oscar Strauss operetta "A Waltz Dream," which begins its second week of enormous success at the Tremont Theatre with a holiday matinee Monday. For none who see this latest of Viennese operettas will say the usual commendation received is not well deserved. On its musical merit it possesses a score of extraordinary beauty and richness, the numbers including a number of waltzes, mazurkas and other dances. These compositions have that attractive quality which usually claims the attention of the cultivated musician and the general music lover who is satisfied with melody that belongs to the class known as "popular."

To those who have seen the wonderful bill at the Orpheum Theatre last week it would seem practically impossible to duplicate or say nothing of excelling it, but a glance over the features, which are announced for the coming week, will show that if there is any priority in any bill it will be with the latter. The headline attraction will be Joe Welch, who is without any exception, the greatest Hebrew Comedian on the stage. Mr. Welch's Hebrew characterizations are absolutely true to life and are the result of long years of intimate study of that race. As every word means a laugh, in fact it has been often said that he can produce more laughs in a short time than any living comedian. A close second of the bill will be William Courtleigh, who with a capable company will present George V. Hobart's slang classic "Peaches." Bostonians are familiar with the work of Mr. Courtleigh and his company, as the sketch has been produced in Boston before, but like a good thing it is worthy of reproduction. Clarice Vance, known as the soft pedal Southern singer because of the delightful mellow manner in which she renders her darky melodies is certainly in a class by herself. It is no exaggeration to say that she has been responsible for the making popular of more songs than any other artist on the stage. Among the latest offerings will be a song of Salome. The Heras Family will give an athletic surprise in the performance of feats that have heretofore been considered impossible. The Georgia Campers will furnish a touch of southern melody and humor which will add greatly to the strength of the bill. For another week Bostonians will have opportunity to see Incognito. The Mysterious society woman with beautiful arms, shoulders, mouth and teeth and whose eyes and forehead are concealed by a black mask. The balance of the bill include among the headlines features of Vaudeville, the whole making up the strongest, and snappiest show ever seen in Boston.

At the Castle Square on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoon and evening John Craig and his stock company will produce for the first time in Boston one of the latest of Henry Arthur Jones' many famous dramas, "The Evangelist." It is a strong play depicting modern life upon a timely subject, and it has been warmly appreciated both in London and New York, the only cities of any considerable size in which it has hitherto been acted.

On account of the tremendous demand for seats "The Circus" will be played next week, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, matinees and evenings.

The talk of the theatrical world hereabouts has been the return of the Boston Theatre to its legitimate field as the house of big things. Messrs. Charles Frohman & William Harris made an excellent beginning with the George M. Cohan and Sam H. Harris' ideal minstrels, the cost and magnificence of which is the comment of those interested in black face entertainment. This superb company continues as the holiday week attraction with matinees at 2 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. The company has been remarkably successful ever since the first performance at Atlantic City last July. Engagements have already been played to phenomenal receipts at the New York Theatre and the Auditorium in Chicago and Boston will not be found lagging. Minstrelsy as presented by the new Cohan & Harris organization seems to have taken an instantaneous leap into popular favor and revived an interest in a form of amusement that was fast going to seed. The master minstrel Mr. Cohan is everywhere apparent in the performance which moves with a quickness and precision always noticeable in a Cohan show. The company includes a remarkable array of high salaried actors and features, including such distinguished performers as Julian Eltinge, Raymond Hitchcock, Eddie Leonard, John King, Rice & Preston Waterbury Brothers, and Tenney, and one hundred others.

"Sold Into Slavery," a new melodrama, is presented at the Globe Opera House.

John Mason continues at the Majestic in "The Witching Hour," a play that has taken favorably. It is the last week of "Little Nell" at the Colonial, while at the Park, Hattie Williams in "Fluffy Ruff" adds another week to her long engagement. The musical comedy "The Red Moon," with Cole & Johnson, makes this the second week at the Globe.

Blanche Ring is featured in the splendid vaudeville show at the Keiths.

Burlesque of the best brand is put forth at the Palace, Coliseum, Gaiety and Howard.

On Monday afternoon and evening two performances of Shakespeare's comedy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," at Symphony Hall, acted by players with Mendelssohn's music, played by fifty men of the Symphony Orchestra.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For the first time in this city, "Lady Frederick," with Ethel Barrymore in the chief part, plays this week at the Hollis Street. It is held to be the wittiest and the vividest of Somerset Maugham's pleasant comedies for prose lovers. The scene is a hotel in Monte Carlo, and the personages all English except Lady Frederick herself—the widow of an Irish baronet, well past her first youth, quick of wit, bright of speech, fertile in resource, with a pert coquetry and humorously worldly-wise of all things that make her unusual and rather admired by her stupider companions. Lady Frederick is embroiled with debts and would make a rich marriage, and for the moment her lover—her devoted and reckless suitor—is a youth just out of Oxford. An anxious mother summons Paradine Fouldes, practised man of the world, to break off the match. Lady Frederick bristles; and the man and the woman fight a pretty duel of wits for two acts. Then Lady Frederick, being acute, sees her way clear. She promptly disillusiones the youth by bidding him to her toilet, which is lengthy and enlists much artifice, and easily captures the yielding Paradine. Miss Barrymore, having a part that is worth while in Lady Frederick, acts it ably, while Mr. McKee plays the portentous Paradine.

Fritzi Scheff comes to the Colonial with "The Prima Donna," a new operetta by Henry Blossom for the text and Victor Herbert for the music. The action passes in and about a café chantant in Paris into which Mlle. Athenee of the Opera Comique chances in the course of motoring. An incident there gives her opportunity to sing a song written by a certain Lieutenant Armand, who has long adored her from the footlights. Acquaintance ripens fast into passion and soon encounters the jealousy of Armand's captain. In a scene of rendezvous Athenee turns the tables upon him, discloses his tricks, and prepares the way for a third act of happy amorous ending. The tale is here are episodes from Miss Scheff's own experiences—whether they may or may not be true. Anyhow, she has the part of Athenee, and three or four light pieces to sing, and must needs be a comedienne as often as a singer.

Beginning this week, "Way Down East" will be the attraction for several weeks at the Boston Theatre. William A. Brady has, as in seasons past, given this play a new dress and added several improvements to the mechanical effects which have tended to enhance the beauty of the stage pictures. It is needless to dwell upon the merits of the play at any length, for theatregoers know full well its clean and wholesome story, its deftly intermingled pathos and comedy, its real characters of the New Hampshire hills, and its great moral.

The day has arrived when no star, no matter how brilliant, is out of reach of the enterprising vaudeville manager. Particularly is this true of the William Morris, Inc., managers of the Orpheum Theatre.

CONTINUED

One legitimate dramatic star is followed by another with clock-like regularity, until it takes a name far out of the ordinary to arouse in usual comment. But the limit has probably been reached in securing Laurence Irving, son of the illustrious Sir Henry Irving and his wife Mabel Hackney to head the bill at the Orpheum Theatre this week. Boston is honored in that Mr. Irving will make his American Vaudeville Debut here and will be seen in a one-act piece, "The King and the Vagabond," which has been adapted by himself from DeBanville's "Gringoire." The English Press has been lavish in its praise of both Mr. Irving and Miss Hackney. This sketch is admirably suited to their talents and is pronounced by all that have seen it a true masterpiece. Mr. Irving will stay but one week at the Orpheum and insists that the name of his father, Sir Henry Irving, be kept out of all his advertising matter as he prefers to stand alone on his own ability as an actor. With Irving and Miss Hackney on the bill will be a number of American and European head-line features such as have never before been seen on a single bill. Comedy will be well represented by Cameron & Flanagan in their original act, "On and Off." Plenty of music will be introduced by Kollins and the Carmen Sisters in banjos, solos and ensembles. Delmore and Lee, America's foremost athlete will present their original novelty "Study in Black and White." The balance of the bill will be fully up to the high Orpheum standard.

Once more, after two long months of "The Circus Girl," which has had a run and a success hitherto unknown in the history of the Castle Square Theatre, the John Craig Stock Company will return with drama. "Old Heidelberg," the familiar play of German college life first made famous in this country by Richard Mansfield will be given and in it Mr. Craig will assume the role of Prince Karl Henri that he has already acted with no little success on more than one occasion here in Boston. "Old Heidelberg" is one of the most popular romantic plays of the day, and it has been received with great favor in England and in Germany as well as in this country. Its plot tells the tale of a German prince who falls in love with Kathie of the Inn at Heidelberg, and its pictures of life among the college students are picturesque in the extreme. It is a rollicking and emotional play of youth.

Besides Mr. Craig in the cast will appear Mary Young as Kathie with Mr. Fricbus as Dr. Juttner, Mr. Meek as Herr Lutz, Mr. Evans as Kellerman, Mr. Hassell as The Comt Von Asterberg, Miss Cord as Frau Dorfel and Miss Cleveland as Fran Ruder.

The scenic display representing the prince's apartments in the castle at Karlsberg, the inn garden at Heidelberg, and the interior of the inn, will be especially interesting. "Old Heidelberg" will run at the Castle Square only one week.

A melo-drama, new to Boston, is "The Millionaire and the Policeman's Wife," playing at the Grand Opera House, where unfolds an amusing story of the New York police.

The continuances are: John Mason in "The Witching Hour," at the Majestic; "A Waltz Dream," at the Tremont; Cole & Johns in "The Red Moon," at the Globe and Hattie Williams in "Flour Ruffles," at the Park.

Jeff de Angelis is at Keith's surrounded by a fine vaudeville bill.

Some of the best of the burlesquers have come to the city and are domiciled at the Howard, Columbia, Gaiety and Palace.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

At the Tremont, Chas. Frohman will present G. P. Huntley in "Kitty Grey." Mr. Huntley and his three score associates come direct from the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, where they closed their engagement on March 6th. Outside of this New York bit, Mr. Huntley will make his first important American appearance in this city in the play in which he has achieved his greatest success, "Kitty Grey." The company supporting him is entirely English with one solitary exception and that beautiful Julia Sanderson, the best American girl to captivate London. Miss Sanderson is the leading woman of the organization and will play the title role of "Kitty Grey." Famous English beauties, selected from all the musical comedy theatres of London, are attractive features of the performance. Miss Valli Valli, a distinguished singer and actress from The Comedy Theatre, is a prominent member of the organization, which comprises also Charles Angelo, Eva Kelly, F. Pope Stamper, Mabel Talby, M. Purfitt, Percy Corray, Robert Corray, and J. Knight. It will be seen from these statements that Mr. Frohman promises Boston patrons one of the greatest music and fun treats they have ever enjoyed. There will be a full complement of singing and dancing comedians and showing of show girls that will be worth raving over. There will be song novelties and surprising features, and altogether "Kitty Grey" promises to be an entertainment that will give the blood of the on-looker a new thrill and that will add considerably to the joys of life.

There will be many new songs, the latest popular favorites in this country and England. Mr. Frohman will make "Kitty Grey," so far as scenery and costumes are concerned, as dainty, colorful and re-delighting as possible. Mr. Huntley and his sixty singers, dancers and special artists will do the rest.

Fritzi Scheff and her big company have been delighting capacity audiences at the Colonial Theatre, in the new Henry Blossom-Victor Herbert light opera, "The Prima Donna." Next Monday night the famous Viennese prima donna will enter on the final week of her Boston engagement. She has been greeted more warmly than ever before, during this engagement. In "The Prima Donna," she not only has opportunity to use her wonderful voice to every advantage, but she also has the chance to show that she possesses real emotional powers as an actress. The supporting company is as nearly perfect as could be imagined, the cast being an extremely large one and led with well-known names. Individual hits are scored by William Raymond, James E. Sullivan, Herbert Ayling, Phil Branson, Martin Baydon, Blanche Morrison, Katherine Stewart, Ruth Holt Boucicault, Grace Delmar, La Noveta, Renee Dyris, and many others. The chorus is a splendid singing organization and the piece is costumed and mounted with all the lavishness which one has come to expect from one of Charles Dillingham's productions. The only matinee during the coming week will be given on Saturday.

CONTINUED

The star of all Scotch comedians, Jack Lorimer, will make his American reappearance at the Orpheum Theatre this week, heading an exceptional bill of head-line features. Bostonians are not unfamiliar with Mr. Lorimer, but it is so long since they have had an opportunity of seeing him, and he has made so many excellent changes in his Scotch act that he will come as a seeming stranger to many. Mr. Lorimer's popularity in England and Scotland has been so great that it was impossible to secure him for an American tour earlier. His unctuous manner, his delightful voice and his eccentric dancing made him an idol among the Scotch people and a tremendous favorite with his English audiences. His present repertoire includes some of the old favorites that will never fail to please, and some new ones that are character. Already plans are being made by the Scotch people of Boston to give him a welcome that he will not soon forget. The remainder of the bill is of the highest possible quality, including such artists as Alexander Carr and Company in "Tobbitsky," "the emperor of the world;" Finley and Burke, travestyists; Bosenquest, the humorist; violin; George C. Davis, the Celtic Commentator and others. Mr. Carr is too well known as a Hebrew comedian to need any comment. His "Tobbitsky says" has become famous. His work has been imitated by scores of performers.

John Craig will give this week the patrons of the Castle Square Theatre something of a novelty in the shape of an automobile play. "The Lightning Conductor" is the play, and as many will surmise, is adapted from the highly popular novel of the same name written by C. N. and A. L. Williamson. The maker of the play is Harry Smith, the well-known writer of comic operas, and he has infused a little of his own humor into the plot and the dialogue. The story deals with the adventures of a bright and beautiful American girl who starts on a tour through France, accompanied by an elderly aunt as a chaperon, in a balky automobile that finally breaks down entirely. A cultivated Englishman comes to their rescue, and for the fun of the thing he masquerades as a chauffeur, and becomes their servant and courier. All sorts of comic events follow, including the burning up of the cranky auto, an imprisonment in an old French castle, and various other incidents in which automobiles play a prominent part and the play finally ends with the disclosure of the title. The Englishman and his engagement to the beautiful American girl. The cast of "The Lightning Conductor" at the Castle Square will include John Craig as the Hon. John Winston, Mary Young as Molly Radolph, Minnette Cleveland as Miss Kedison, Mabel Colcord as Lady Brighton, Theodore Friebus as Talleyrand, George Hassell as Jack Barrow, and Gertrude Binely as Sybil Barrow.

Bonita in "Wine, Woman and Song," returns to the Globe with the favorite features of the former years retained. Everywhere the show has gone large audiences flock to see it.

The Grand Opera House offers the popular actress, Beatrice Rivers in "Lena Rivers," dramatized from Mary J. Holmes' long-named and highly emotional novel.

This is the second last week of John Mason in "The Witching Hour," at the Majestic; and Ethel Barrymore in "Lady Frederic" continues at the Hollis Street. Hattie Williams in "Fluffy Ruffles" closes her long engagement at the Park this week. William Brady's "perfect production" of "Way Down East," continues at the Boston.

Keith's bill is headed by Neil Burgess and Co. and Jerome Schwartz.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

To the Colonial this week comes "The Girls of Gottenberg," which ran 150 nights at the Knickerbocker Theatre in New York and was the big London Gaiety Theatre furore of all last year in the British capital. The large quota of the English cast is supplemented by an American contingent of important players. In this semi-English and semi-American piece, are Amy Angeles, remembered from Weber and Fields companies; May Naulain, Louise Dresser and G. P. Blakeley, of many a London musical play. The production follows various amusing adventures in a little German town and goes lightly and gaily.

"Peggy Machree," the successful comedy of the Green Isle that scored such a hit in the metropolis recently, is given at the Park. The star of the company is Joseph O'Mara, who is credited in New York with being the finest singer of Irish ballads ever heard in that city. The play made an instantaneous hit at the Broadway Theatre, New York, and attracted more attention than any other play of its type ever put forth on Broadway. It is said to be a most delightful drama of the eighteenth century, rich in humor and full of real music and presenting a dainty and charming picture of Irish life.

Another opportunity is given playgoers of Boston to witness again the popular play, "The Man of the Hour," it being brought this time to the Boston.

"The Man of The Hour" is under the management of William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer. This play of today, which fits the municipal politics of any large city, is by George Broadhurst, and enjoyed a most spectacular run at another Boston theatre last season. Messrs. Brady and Grismer have endeavored to retain most of the players who were associated with that production, and, in presenting the play at the more popular prices of the Boston they have assured the public that nothing has been slighted.

The cast will be headed by Cyril Scott recently seen as a star in his own right in "The Prince Chap" and "The Royal Mounted." Mr. Scott is under contract to Messrs. Brady and Grismer, and, awaiting the completion of a new play for him by Mr. Broadhurst, that author earnestly solicited Mr. Scott to play the young mayor in "The Man of The Hour." The feminine part of the company will be headed by Miss Lillian Kemble, a great favorite in Boston, and among the other favorites in the cast are Kate Lester, Marian Chapman, Rapley Holmes, Harry Harwood, James E. Wilson and William Deming.

Everybody who knows George Bernard Shaw's wit will want to see "You Never Can Tell" at the Castle Square this week, and many thousands more will want to laugh at the genial Irishman's humor of which they have heard so much. Mr. Craig will be giving this most humorous of farcial comedies its first stock presentation in Boston, and none of his patrons will be disappointed. "You Never Can Tell" is a play in which both action and speech are continuously funny. In its plot is involved Mrs. Clandon and the Clandon family, and it happens that she is much given to theorizing upon the welfare of mankind. Her husband is taken to drink, possibly with good cause, and they are separated. It is their meeting with their unknown father that gives the Clandon twins and Mr. Shaw an opportunity for grotesque comedy. Scene after scene waxes eloquent with humor—there is one special incident of a dentist's office that is uproariously funny, and at the end while we are left somewhat in doubt as to whether the Clandon family is reunited, we at least know that the curtain falls on a scene of all-round pleasantness. For "You Never Can Tell" is one of Mr. Shaw's most pleasant plays.

With such a lively play, and the liveliest of casts, "You Never Can Tell" cannot help but please during the coming week at the Castle Square. The two twins will be played by Miss Mary Young and her brother Bert Young, who joins the John Craig Stock Company for a special engagement, and in the other important roles will be Mr. Friebs as Ferlus Crampton, Mr. Hassell as Mr. Bohun, Mr. Evarts as William, Mr. Murray as Finch McComas, Mr. Meek as Mr. Valentine, Miss Coleord as Mrs. Clandon and Miss Binlev as Gloria Clandon.

The familiar and well-liked Western play with "The Child of the Regiment," with Walter Wilson retaining his original part comes to the Grand Opera for the week.

G. P. Huntley and the London musical comedy company in "Kitty Grey," is a continuance at the Tremont, and John Mason in "The Witching Hour," at the Majestic, makes this his last week. It is the final week of Ethel Barrymore in "Lady Frederick" at the Hollis. At the Globe, Bonita in "Wine, Woman and Song," continues.

Sidney Drew, a member of the famous Drew Family, will head an excellent bill at the Orpheum Theatre this coming week in a side-splitting farce "Billy's Tombstones." Mr. Drew has built for himself a reputation second only to his brother John Drew, and has done as much as any one else to maintain the high position enjoyed by the family in the theatrical world. His quiet humor is of the infectious kind that is irresistible. "Billy's Tombstones" furnishes an excellent vehicle for his exceptional talents. Every line of the sketch is loaded down with humor. Not the rip roaring kind, but the mild unenous sort that leaves the audience perfectly satisfied. Mr. Drew will be supported by an excellent company and is bound to repeat his former tremendous success in the Hub. Lucy Western, the demure singer of dainty songs, will share the honors of the bill. She was star of the "Follies of 1908" during its remarkable New York run and her wonderful popularity along the Great White Way has made it impossible for her to leave New York earlier this season. She will offer some lyrical advice, which was relished by New York run and her wonderful popularity along the Great White Way acceptable to Bostonians. The musical end of the program will be taken care of by The Royal Musical Five, high class vocalists and instrumentalists. This act has the reputation of being the daintiest of its kind ever offered in Boston. Charles Sweet, the musical burglar, is well known and needs no comment and will be seen in Boston for the first time this season. His ability as a piano player coupled with his tramp comedy is sure to please. The balance of the bill will be up to the high Orpheum standard and will include many of vaudeville's best features.

Mabel Hite and Mike Donlin are features of the vaudeville acts at Keith's. The Orpheum has an abundance of excellent offerings.

Rose Hill's English Folly Burlesquers are at the Gaiety. Favorite companies play at the Columbia, Palace and Howard.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

Oscar Hammerstein's Manhattan Theatre Grand Opera Company opens an engagement of two weeks beginning March 29th at the Boston Theatre. Subscriptions for season tickets will now be received by mail and at the box office of the theatre on the 15th, 16th and 17th instants.

It is the only store in Boston where the celebrated Hartman Wardrobe Trunk can be purchased. They have a fine assortment of wrist-bags at prices that will insure a quick sale, and their pocketbooks, billbooks, card cases and other small articles cannot be equalled in the city for price and quality. They make tire and auto trunks to order and do first class repairing.

The Russian Importing Company, 429 Boylston Street, displays a beautiful and attractive line of goods made by the Russian peasants in brass, copper, bronze, silver and woodenware, suitable for home decoration, prizes, etc.; also homespun linen, hand-made centrepieces, doilies and scarfs in drawn work, laces and waist patterns. Visitors are always welcome.

Hewins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co's., 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

Art and Novelty Shop, 368 Boylston St., are showing a fine line of Arts and Crafts Jewelry, also Mission Lamps. Theatrical Post Card of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

William Gillette appears at the Hollis Street this week in an adaptation by himself of the play of "Samson," written by Henry Bernstein, author of "The Thief." This engagement marks Mr. Gillette's return to the local stage after an absence abroad of nearly two years. This star and play have ruled in New York since the opening of the current season. "Samson" is in four acts and its greatest scene takes most of the time of the third act. The fourth act is somewhat regarded as an anti-climax, yet it in no ways effects the extraordinary denouement worked up in the preceding act. Mr. Bernstein's theme is manifestly suggestive, in a large degree, of Wall Street at its busiest and its worst. The plot of the play tells of Jacques Brachard, who, brought up in poverty and risen to wealth, has it forced upon him that money will not buy his wife's love. He sacrifices his whole fortune to bring about a panic on the exchange to the ruination of the man who has robbed him of the love of his wife. Like Samson of old he pulls down the walls of ill-gotten wealth upon his enemies, upon the destroyer of his home, and, like Samson, too, upon himself. But he does win back his wife and begins life and fortune again in renewed happiness. Mr. Gillette's supporting company is of the strongest material, each member carefully selected by both Mr. Frohman and the star. It includes Frederic de Belleville, Arthur Byron, Pauline Frederick, Marie Wainwright, George Probert, Hayward Ginn, Henry Carvill, Desmond Kelley, Kathryn Keys and others.

Eddie Foy in "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," comes to the Majestic for two weeks. Mr. Foy plays the part of Joey Wheeze, a stranded circus clown who, after he has been impressed into the local militia, with the attendant comedy complications, finds himself among a crowd of ambitious amateurs who are about to undertake an open-air performance of "Hamlet." The amateurs, find themselves up against the proposition of having to play "Hamlet" with Hamlet left out; so the clown is cast as the Melancholy Dane, and what he does with the part is just one long laugh from start to finish.

Mr. Foy is supported by one of the largest and most perfect musical comedy organizations ever sent on the road. Principal in the support is Miss Maude Raymond, who is hardly less famous than the star himself. It will be a treat to her admirers to see her play Ophelia to Mr. Foy's Hamlet. She also furnishes one of the big hits of the show in her "Dusky Salome" dance, which in itself is a miracle of life and grace. It is a creation rather than a copy, and Miss Raymond has pruned from it all suggestiveness. One can easily imagine her, with her dark, oriental coloring, to be a true representation of that Salome who danced before Herod.

In the support are also Miss Mabelle Baker, one of the best character women on the stage; Geo. Schiller, a favorite character comedian; Jno. H. Pratt, one of the best baritones in musical comedy; Madison & Cook, a team of comedians whose work always creates a furore everywhere, and Ned Wayburn's original "broilers," eight of the best little girl dancers in the profession.

There is a chorus and scenic and sartorial investiture surpassing anything heretofore sent on tour by the Shuberts.

James J. Jeffries, the champion of all champions will be the star feature of the excellent bill at the Orpheum Theatre this week. The appearance of Jeffries in Boston will mark an epoch in local athletics, for since the title passed to a colored man by the defeat of Tommy Burns by Jack Johnson, the whole sporting world has looked to the real champion, James J. Jeffries, to redeem it. Whether Jeffries will fight Johnson or not is not known even by Jeffries himself. It will depend entirely on whether or not the man who voluntarily relinquished the title, is able to get into proper condition. If he can, there is little doubt that he will make good his statement that he will enter the ring with the colored man. It is the curiosity to know whether Jeffries is rounding into condition that will draw record audiences to the Orpheum this week, but aside from this, there will be a general desire to see the modern Hercules, who has been pronounced the greatest fighter the world has ever known.

But the appearance of Jeffries will not be the means of in any way lowering the standard of the bill which will be presented with him. The clever entertainer to the "400" of New York, Willa Holt Wakefield, is sure to win a warm place in the hearts of Boston theatregoers. The William Morris (Inc.) certainly played a trump card when they secured her for the circuit of which the Orpheum is a part, and that their judgment will be endorsed after her appearance here goes without saying. The balance of the bill will include such artists as Eugene O'Rourke who with a capable company will present the great laughing piece, "Parlor A;" Ina Claire who has won popularity by her excellent imitations of the great Scotch Comedian Harry Lauder; Techow's Cats, marvels of feline intelligence; Scott and Whaley, eccentric colored comedians; Campbell and Barber, comedy and acrobatic cyclists and other all-star features.

"Brown of Harvard," with James Young to act Brown himself has come to the Globe. The great boat race and the other scenes of "college life," that made such a big hit on former occasions in this city are again seen with the same delight.

A new Western melodrama, entitled "The Sheriff of Angel Gulch," with "Young Buffalo," the cowboy actor, is again brought to the Grand Opera House.

The stock company under John Craig at the Castle Square has taken up "Her Only Way," Clyde Fitch's light comedy of a young woman of New York and her suitors that Maxine Elliott a short time ago made such a success in her presentation of it.

The latest and one of the greatest London Gaiety Theatre musical comedy successes, "The Girls of Gottenberg," continues in its run at the Colonial. This is the final week of G. P. Huntley in "Kitty Grey," at the Tremont. With many song hits, Joseph O'Mara in the Irish comedy, "Peggy Mahree," remains at the Park, and the original production of "The Man of the Hour," makes this week the last of its run at the Boston.

Alice Lloyd is the big part of the vaudeville show at Keith's this week.

A great deal of amusement is obtained by a visit to the burlesque houses, the Howard, Palace, Gaiety and Columbia.

If you are a lover of old books, you cannot afford to miss the opportunity to look over a fine lot of them now on exhibition in the front part of Charles E. Lauriat Company's store, opposite the head of Franklin Street. It includes a gathering from many private libraries recently purchased, as well as some extensive importations from London.

Miss M. F. Fisk of The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., has made her specialty shop so popular, not only to her regular customers but to the public generally that it is always a pleasure to visit it. The showing of men's and women's Gloves in Fownes, Perrine and Trefousse, the women's waists, neckwear and veils always in the latest styles is very complete and your inspection will be appreciated.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabric and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is tubbed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is showing, without doubt, the finest line of leather goods we have ever seen in this city. Anything pertaining to leather is to be found there, from my lady's hand bag to the heavy steamer trunk, and all of the finest workmanship. They also manufacture automobile trunks to order, any shape desired, and the prices are always the lowest.

The Russian Importing Company, 429 Boylston Street, displays a beautiful and attractive line of goods made by the Russian peasant in brass, copper, bronze, silver and woodenware, suitable for home decoration, prizes, etc.; also homespun linen, hand-made centrepieces, doilies and scarfs in drawn work, laces and waist patterns. Visitors are always welcome.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Beginning Monday evening the Boston Theatre will be devoted to Grand Opera by the famous Manhattan Grand Opera Company, Mr. Oscar Hammerstein, director. It is Mr. Hammerstein's intention to make this, his first visit as a grand opera director to Boston, a memorable event in the history of the metropolis of New England. Grand Opera will be presented in a style in every detail adequate to all the requirements of this ennobling form of art. Mr. Hammerstein will introduce the same brilliant array of artists that he employs for his New York and Philadelphia seasons. All the scenery required in his productions at those houses and every member of the chorus and orchestra engaged there will be utilized in his Boston performances. The corrected repertory for the first week is as follows:

Monday evening, "Lucia," Mme. Tetrizzini and M. Constantino; Tuesday evening, "Thais," Miss Garden and M. Renaud; Wednesday evening, "Traviata," Mme. Tetrizzini; Thursday evening, "Pelleas and Melisande," Miss Garden, M. Dalmores and Dufranne; Friday evening, "Tales of Hoffman," M. Dalmores, M. Renaud, M. Gilibert and Mme. Doria; Saturday matinee, "Boheme," Mlle. Labia and M. Constantino; Saturday evening, "Aida," Mme. Agostinelli, Mme. Doria, M. Zenatello and M. Sammarco.

At the Park Theatre, Monday evening, W. H. Crane, that popular and sterling comedian, in what has been acclaimed as his best success of many years, George Ade's comedy, "Father and the Boys." It comes, so it looks now, as the big hit which may wind up Mr. Crane's stage career, but the popularity of the piece is of a nature to make the comedian's retirement a very remote event, to say the least. Sufficient just now is the fact that he has one of his old-time successes, and one that promises to endure for many seasons to come. It looks very much as if "Father and the Boys" is the kind of play that Mr. Crane personally likes, and, what is more to the point, the kind that his audiences want. It supplies him with the role of a quaint, shrewd, country-bred wool broker who has made his "pile" in the city, and whose college-bred sons, with their ambitions for athletics and social frills, consider hopelessly behind the "procession." The old gentleman feels hurt for a while, and then decides that the only way to bring the boys to their senses is to get out and "circulate" on his own hook and, by so doing, demonstrate to his young hopefuls that he is able to out-trot them down the joyous amusement pike of gay life, with the result that the youngsters are obliged eventually to request him to ease down for a while and give them a chance to "catch up." It is all hugely comical, and thoroughly clean and wholesome, with a valuable little moral thrown in.

"The Servant in the House," beginning its engagement this week at the Tremont is a modern drama of unusual originality, power and purpose. The presentation of the piece is by the Henry Miller Associate Players, the organization that brought it into fame by a six months' run in New York and a ten weeks' run in Chicago. The play fills two functions generally considered anti-theatrical; it presents profound moral and spiritual truths and also affords absorbing entertainment. The great character in the play is Manson, who appears in the midst of a domestic drama in which hatred, hypocrisy, false pride, wrong thinking and evil doing are about to wreck a home and warp eternal souls, and his clear vision, sweet sympathy and masterful purpose bring harmony out of discord, restore brother to brother, husband to wife, and father to child, and brings each to a realization of duty toward God and man.

As might be expected the Champion of all Champions, James J. Jeffries, is to be held over at the Orpheum Theatre for another week. Those who were fortunate enough in securing seats last week were surprised at the excellent physical condition of the Champion. Many of the sporting fraternity came expecting to see his giant frame loaded down with superfluous flesh, instead they saw a development seldom equalled by any person. Another agreeable surprise was found in the fact that the act Jeffries presented with his sparing partner, Sam Berger, proved almost as interesting to the ladies and children as it did to the men. Jeffries was given a tremendous ovation at every performance last week by capacity audiences and that this will be repeated the coming week is a certainty. Already the advance sale is as large as it was for the first week of his engagement, but there are still desirable seats left for every performance.

Supplementing Jeffries will be another star bill that combines variety with delightful novelty. America's foremost dancer and comedienne, Miss Mayme Gehrue, will appear with a splendid company of five actors in a one-act western play, "June." This piece was written by Edmund Day, author of the "Round Up" and it is played by Miss Gehrue in a manner to satisfy the most fastidious. It will be a complete dramatic production in every respect differing only from the style of the "Round Up" in the length of time it takes to play it. The musical end of the program will be taken care of by Stuart Kollins and the Carmen Sisters who are banjo experts to the finger tips. The balance of the bill will include Campbell and Barber, comedy and acrobatic cyclists; Ripon, the Scotch ventriloquist; William Cahill, the man from Ireland, and other features.

George M. Cohan's popular musical show, "45 Minutes from Broadway," makes a return engagement to the Globe. When presented earlier in the season at this house there were big audiences in attendances at all performances.

The John Craig Stock Company at the Castle Square offers "All On Account of Eliza," a rural piece that was originally played by Louis Mann and Clara Lippman.

Eddie Foy and Maude Raymond in their jolly musical comedy show, "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," continue at the Majestic. Another musical hit, "The Girls of Gottenberg," makes this its third week at the Colonial. William Gillette in the four-act modern drama, "Samson," is a continuance at the Hollis Street, and is by far the best show in Boston.

Nance O'Neil and Company are features of the vaudeville at Keith's.

Some of the best burlesque acts of the season are given by the companies at the Palace, Howard, Gaiety and Columbia.

If you are a lover of old books, you cannot afford to miss the opportunity to look over a fine lot of them now on exhibition in the front part of Charles E. Lauriat Company's store, opposite the head of Franklin Street. It includes a gathering from many private libraries recently purchased, as well as some extensive importations from London.

Miss M. F. Fisk of The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., has made her specialty shop so popular, not only to her regular customers, but to the public generally that it is always a pleasure to visit it. The showing of men's and women's Gloves in Fownes, Perrine and Trefousse, the women's waists, neckwear and veils always in the latest styles is very complete and your inspection will be appreciated.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is tubbed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is showing, without doubt, the finest line of leather goods we have ever seen in this city. Anything pertaining to leather is to be found there, from my lady's hand bag to the heavy steamer trunk, and all of the finest workmanship. They also manufacture automobile trunks to order, any shape desired, and the prices are always the lowest.

The Russian Importing Company, 429 Boylston Street, displays a beautiful and attractive line of goods made by the Russian peasants in brass, copper, bronze, silver and woodenware, suitable for home decoration, prizes, etc.; also homespun linen, hand-made centrepieces, doilies and scarfs in drawn work, laces and waist patterns. Visitors are always welcome.

Hevins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

GEO. M. COHAN IN "THE YANKEE PRINCE" AT THE COLONIAL.

At the Colonial theatre for the next two weeks we are to have Geo. M. Cohan and his Royal Family in young Mr. Cohan's phenomenally successful musical comedy, "The Yankee Prince." This is the play that served to re-unite this famous family, known the world over as the Four Cohans, Josephine, the daughter having been away from the fold for the past five years during which time she appeared in vaudeville with her husband, Mr. Fred Niblo.

That Josephine returns to the family, and especially her appearance in "The Yankee Prince" has had much to do with the acclaim that has been accorded this musical comedy during its presentation in the cities where it has been shown, there can be no doubt. Possessed of a sweet and charming stage presence, a beautifully modulated voice of sympathetic quality and above all with that indescribable attribute so necessary to the player's art, magnetism, Josephine Cohan is beyond question, one of the most winsome comediennes now before the public, and in "The Yankee Prince" we are told that we are to see her at her best.

George Cohan is celebrated for his aptitude in fitting parts to players. Always, when devising a comedy he has the actors in mind who will people his cast, and it is a rarity for him to make a mistake. Take for instance Tom Lewis—remembered as the big laugh in "Little Johnny Jones" where he appeared as "The Unknown." It was a knockout, and Cohan has followed this character up with another which Lewis has created in "The Yankee Prince" that is said to be even more convulsing than was that famous role.

While it may be true that Lewis dominates the three acts in which "The Yankee Prince" has been written, all of the players in the cast have been most happily placed. Especially is this true in the case of Josephine, Helen F. and Jerry J. Cohan, as well as of Sam J. Ryan, Geo. Parsons, Frank Hollins, Robert Emmett Lennon, J. Jiquel Lance, Lola Hoffman, Dorothy Jordan and the rest of the principals in young Mr. Cohan's latest comedy offering, while a fascinating chorus of sweet femininity forms a fetching background that is said to be particularly satisfying.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Julian Eltinge, the world's most famous portrayer of feminine characters and Boston's own star, is to head the unusually strong bill at the Orpheum Theatre this week. Mr. Eltinge's ability and reputation throughout this country and Europe is so well known that comment seems superfluous. He has won tremendous success in every city in this country as well as across the water, until his position today leaves him no peer in his particular line of work. For that reason, Bostonians will undoubtedly welcome him as their own and feel proud of what he has accomplished while away. Other numbers: Henry Helme, famed as a singer from the Alps; Wilson Franklyn & Co., Brothers De Wynn, The Four Magnanis, Hickey & Wilson, Howard Howley and others.

SHOPPING NEWS

If you are a lover of old books, you cannot afford to miss the opportunity to look over a fine lot of them now on exhibition in the front part of Charles E. Lauriat Company's store, opposite the head of Franklin Street. It includes a gathering from many private libraries recently purchased, as well as some extensive importations from London.

Miss M. F. Fisk of The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., has made her specialty shop so popular, not only to her regular customers, but to the public generally that it is always a pleasure to visit it. The showing of men's and women's Gloves in Fownes, Perrine and Trefousse, the women's waists, neckwear and veils always in the latest styles is very complete and your inspection will be appreciated.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is tubbed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is showing, without doubt, the finest line of leather goods we have ever seen in this city. Anything pertaining to leather is to be found there, from my lady's hand bag to the heavy steamer trunk, and all of the finest workmanship. They also manufacture automobile trunks to order, any shape desired, and the prices are always the lowest.

The Russian Importing Company, 429 Boylston Street, displays a beautiful and attractive line of goods made by the Russian peasants in brass, copper, bronze, silver and woodenware, suitable for home decoration, prizes, etc.; also homespun linen, hand-made centrepieces, doilies and scarfs in drawn work, laces and waist patterns. Visitors are always welcome.

Hewins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

MRS. FISKE AT MAJESTIC THEATRE.

Mrs. Fiske at the Majestic Theatre in "Salvation Nell," has without doubt, the dramatic success of the season, the most realistic piece of stagecraft we have ever witnessed. The different stage settings are wonderful, one can almost notice the odor in the atmosphere surrounding such places pictured in the different acts. Mr. Sheldon may thank fate that led him to Mrs. Fiske with this piece of real life. No other actress in the world could play the part with such realism as Mrs. Fiske in "Salvation Nell." Mr. Holbrook Blinn ably assists Mrs. Fiske, playing the part of her lover in the character of "Jim Platt," which is so near the real thing one would think he was hurriedly drafted from the street to play the part. Mr. Henry Wenman as Major Williams, is considerably off color in the portraying of his character. His lines and acting in the second and third act, would not be found in the true character of the Salvation Army officer of today. But that is only a speck of discolor, comparatively speaking. This great drama taken from real life is a sample of what the public wants. No more fiction, no more improbable plays and no better demonstration of the above can be shown than to look at the immense audiences that throng the Majestic nightly to see this great play of real life, played by real actors and actresses, that are real artists in every sense of the word.

The Tremendous popularity of Julian Eltinge, the world's greatest portrayer of feminine characters, was evidence of such an extent during the past week that the management of the Orpheum Theatre wisely decided to hold the peerless artist over for another week. This announcement in itself will surely be welcomed by thousands of Boston theatre goers, among whom Mr. Eltinge is a remarkable favorite, but the further announcement of an all star bill, the like of which has never been seen on a Boston stage during the present season, will be sure to excite a most favorable comment. Mr. Eltinge, himself, is an attraction worth seeing any number of times. His marvellous characterizations, such as the Brinkley Girl, the Bathing Girl and the Broadway Swell, will be excelled by the sensational dance the "Goddess of Incense," which will be included in his repertoire during the coming week. A strong local favorite will make a strong bid for the headline honors in the person of Charles J. Ross, who with the assistance of Anna Turner will present an original creation in mimicry and travesty entitled "Chuckles." Mr. Ross is a member of the famous Ross & Fenton pair and is a dramatic artist to his finger tips. A decided sensation is promised by that wonder of the modern stage, Memora, who has tucked away in his massive brain a mass of facts and figures that are only contained in the largest encyclopedia. Other acts on this remarkable bill will be Harry Fisher, the late comedian of "It Happened in Nordland;" Rose Botti in a one-act absurdity, "A Letter from Mother;" Merle Mayew, the dainty singer of Scotch ballads; Harry Botter & Company, in a lively comedy sketch, and others.

SHOPPING NEWS

If you want to see what a dollar will buy in the way of a book, step into Charles E. Lauriat Co.'s store, opposite Franklin Street, and see some of the world's great books that they are offering at that price per volume. They are a revelation as to the possibilities of book buying at low prices. The great wonder, even to practical bookmen, is how it is possible to produce such books for the price. There is absolutely nothing suggesting cheapness about them but the price.

Blanchard, King & Co. carry the largest assortment of Neckwear in any shop in Boston, and their prices are always most reasonable. They are now showing a beautiful line of English Cravats, the quality, color, design and assortment is the best they have ever shown and it will pay you to look in "The Neckwear Shop," 250 Boylston Street is the address.

Miss M. F. Fisk of The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., has made her specialty shop so popular, not only to her regular customers, but to the public generally that it is always a pleasure to visit it. The showing of men's and women's Gloves in Fownes, Perrine and refousse, the women's waists, neckwear and veils always in the latest styles is very complete and your inspection will be appreciated.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is washed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is showing, without doubt, the finest line of leather goods we have ever seen in this city. Anything pertaining to leather is to be found there, from my lady's hand bag to the heavy steamer trunk, and all of the finest workmanship. They also manufacture automobile trunks to order, any shape desired, and the prices are always the lowest.

The Russian Importing Company, 429 Boylston Street, displays a beautiful and attractive line of goods made by the Russian peasants in brass, copper, bronze, silver and woodenware, suitable for home decoration, prizes, etc.; also homespun linen, hand-made centrepieces, pyllies and scarfs in drawn work, laces and waist patterns. Visitors are always welcome.

Hewins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods of the best class.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

MARIE CAHILL AT THE HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

In the topsy-turvy world of so-called musical comedy—where here is little comedy and less music—Miss Marie Cahill stands today almost alone consistently for sanity and charm, in that branch of dramatic art: Sanity and charm, that is, in the whole conduct of the plot and action. Neither blatant vulgarity nor noisy horse play nor meaningless "specialties" strung on a thread of plot too slender to bear even such a weight characterize the musical pieces in which she appears and which she inspires and guides. They always have a story which does not insult the intelligence; the songs have some excuse of relevancy, there is daintiness and charm. She, too, is a leader; her success is a success of brains and taste quite as much as of comic ability as a singing actress.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

To begin with there is George Primrose, the most famous Minstrel of them all and conceded to be America's most graceful dancer. The name of Primrose is a by-word of minstrelsy and known intimately to the last two generations, as an originator and producer of dancing. Katie Barry, the diminutive comedienne, who made a reputation in the legitimate, starring in several of the most successful pieces. She will be remembered as a co-star with John Slavin in "Mlle. Sally," also in "A Knight For a Day." Her peculiar style has always made her a favorite. She will present this week an entirely new production which suits her perhaps better than anything in which she has appeared. Lovers of animals will be delighted with the offering of Alf. W. Loyal. Eugenio Torre, the celebrated operatic tenor from the Metropolitan Opera Company. This will be one of the most notable vaudeville engagements of the season. The American Rosebuds, the Austin Brothers Company will be seen in a whirlwind of original fooleries, the Three Saytons will present their wonderful alligator stunt, and other star acts will complete the truly remarkable bill.

SHOPPING NEWS

If you want to see what a dollar will buy in the way of a book, step into Charles E. Lauriat Co.'s store, opposite Franklin Street, and see some of the world's great books that they are offering at that price per volume. They are a revelation as to the possibilities of book making at low prices. The great wonder, even to practical bookmen, is how it is possible to produce such books for the price. There is absolutely nothing suggesting cheapness about them but the price.

Blanchard, King & Co. carry the largest assortment of Neckwear of any shop in Boston, and their prices are always most reasonable. They are now showing a beautiful line of English Cravats, the quality, color, design and assortment is the best they have ever shown and it will pay you to look in "The Neckwear Shop." 250 Boylston Street is the address.

Miss M. F. Fisk of The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., has made her specialty shop so popular, not only to her regular customers, but to the public generally that it is always a pleasure to visit it. The showing of men's and women's Gloves in Fownes, Perrine and Trefousse, the women's waists, neckwear and veils always in the latest styles is very complete and your inspection will be appreciated.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is tubbed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is showing, without doubt, the finest line of leather goods we have ever seen in this city. Anything pertaining to leather is to be found there, from my lady's hand bag to the heavy steamer trunk, and all of the finest workmanship. They also manufacture automobile trunks to order, any shape desired, and the prices are always the lowest.

The Russian Importing Company, 429 Boylston Street, displays a beautiful and attractive line of goods made by the Russian peasants in brass, copper, bronze, silver and woodenware, suitable for home decoration, prizes, etc.; also homespun linen, hand-made centrepieces, doilies and scarfs in drawn work, laces and waist patterns. Visitors are always welcome.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont Street, is renowned for perfection of taste and refinement daily exemplified in beautiful creations of all kinds of Fur at Moderate Prices.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

WARFIELD—THE ACTOR AND THE MAN.

At the Majestic Theatre David Warfield is once more appearing, under David Belasco's direction, in that tender comedy, "The Music Master." It was in this play that Mr. Warfield was first recognized as one of the greatest comedians the American stage had ever known. His comedy is so close to tears that ever and anon the line between the two is passed and repassed without conscious effort on the part of the actor, who carries his audience with him into the very depths of the character he has created. Mr. Warfield began life as an actor on the vaudeville stage—the variety stage it was called in those days. From that he passed to musical comedy where he made no less a startling success than on the "legitimate" stage; the musical comedy field lost him to travesty and burlesque as produced under the Weber and Fields regime at the little Broadway playhouse and then Belasco recognized the latent talent of a great artist and offered him as a star in "The Auctioneer." From this character the transition to "The Music Master" was accomplished and Mr. Warfield attained the right to be called one of America's greatest players. The character of the kindly Herr von Barwig reflects much of the man Warfield. Simple in his tastes, kindly in his sentiments, slow spoken and ever gentle and considerate of those about him—to know him is to love him. It is the happy side of life which Mr. Warfield looks upon—there may be sorrow and it wins his sympathy—there may be error and it wins his commiseration—but in his daily life—in his contact with those about him there is always only the best and sunniest aspect of the world, and its people.

Eddie Foy is the headliner at the Orpheum this week in "Mr. Hamlet by Freight." Mr. Foy's jump to vaudeville is the big catch of the season, the rest of the bill is as follows: The Five Juggling Jordans will make their first appearance in Boston and it is safe to say that their like has never before been seen in a local theatre. It is a turn that is full of action from start to finish and shows the wonderful dexterity of the talented quintette. Another feature that will be seen for the first time in Boston will be Rinaldo, the wandering violinist. New York critics have pronounced him an artist of the highest type and his characterization of the street musician is well nigh perfect. Local interest will be centered in the appearance of Carl Stowe, late comedian of the Boston Cadets who will present a brilliant monologue. Mr. Stowe has a host of friends who are planning all kinds of receptions for him during his engagement. Menetekel, or the writing ball, is a European illusion which has created a sensation wherever it has been shown. Other acts on this excellent bill will be Alf. W. Loyal, whose miniature circus proved such a success last week; Burroughs-Trav's & Company in a one-act comedy, "A Trying Situation;" Harvey & Lee, clever Hebrew entertainers and others.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Russian Importing Co., 429 Boylston St., offers an assortment of old and modern jewels, brass, copper, hand-made lace, needle and linen work in endless variety, also wood in endless variety of objects both useful and ornamental, and always unique and artistic without a peer in this country. The genius of a whole empire can be seen at our establishment. Visitors always welcome.

If you want to see what a dollar will buy in the way of a book step into Charles E. Lauriat Co.'s store, opposite Franklin Street, and see some of the world's great books that they are offering at the price per volume. They are a revelation as to the possibilities of book making at low prices. The great wonder, even to practical bookmen is how it is possible to produce such books for the price. There is absolutely nothing suggesting cheapness about them but the price.

Miss M. F. Fisk of The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., has made her specialty shop so popular, not only to her regular customers but to the public generally that it is always a pleasure to visit it. The showing of men's and women's Gloves in Fownes, Perrine and Trefousse, the women's waists, neckwear and veils always in the latest styles is very complete and your inspection will be appreciated.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabric and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is tubbed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

The Boston Trunk Depot, the only real leather goods house in Boston, showing exclusive designs in leather hand bags, grips, dress suit cases and travelling bags. Everything of the "classic kind" and the prices, way down.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont St., has the only up-to-date facilities for the storage of furs. This firm's long experience in the fur business is sufficient guarantee.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

Art and Novelty Shop, 368 Boylston St., are showing a fine line of Arts and Crafts Jewelry, also Mission Lamps. Theatrical Post Cards of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

MARIE CAHILL AT THE HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

In the topsy-turvy world of so-called musical comedy—where there is little comedy and less music—Miss Marie Cahill stands today almost alone consistently for sanity and charm, in that branch of dramatic art: Sanity and charm, that is, in the whole conduct of the plot and action. Neither blatant vulgarity nor noisy horse play nor meaningless "specialties" strung on a thread of plot too slender to bear even such a weight characterize the musical pieces in which she appears and which she inspires and guides. They always have a story which does not insult the intelligence; the songs have some excuse of relevancy, there is daintiness and charm. She, too, is a leader; her success is a success of brains and taste quite as much as of comic ability as a singing actress.

AT THE ORPHEUM

At last Boston Theatre-goers are to have an opportunity of seeing that most wonderful of all modern dancers, Saharet. She comes to the Orpheum Theatre next week after an engagement in New York which has been termed by the critics of that city to be "cyclonic sensation." Saharet has never been seen in Boston before, but in one respect she is not a stranger. From Professor Lennbach's great portrait of her and its thousands of reproductions, practically every one familiar with art is also familiar with Saharet. Most of the modern dancers today are not beautiful and few beautiful women know how to dance, but Saharet combines beauty and the dancing art to such an extent that she is in a class by herself. That versatile catch comedian, Jack Lorimer, will again be seen here and those who have heard his unctuous singing of Scotch songs and seen his remarkable dancing will not wish to miss this opportunity of seeing him again. Juliet, a young woman of mystery, who has startled New York by her clever impersonations and wonderful personality will be seen for the first time on any Boston stage. This girl, for she is not yet out of her teens, has been called the marvel of vaudeville. Eddie Clark with his six winning widows come fresh from their European triumphs. Mr. Clark still has his masterpiece, "The Piker." The Florenz Family, sensational acrobats, Pauline Saxon, the "Sis Perkins" girl, Blake's Circus, the best on the stage, Lydia Dreams Company, Dynes and Dynes will make up a bill on which every single act is a headliner.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is a recognized authority on Ladies Gloves, Waists, Neck Wear, and Veils. In communication, as she is, with the best of the Foreign and American Manufacturers, gives her the opportunity to present to her customers things much in advance of the regular season, and whether you purchase or not you will always have courteous attention.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is a store worth visiting. Not only do they carry a fine line of trunks, including light weights for European travel, and wardrobe trunks, but they can show as good an assortment of all leather traveling goods as can be found in the city, and at prices no one can fail to appreciate. When the unexpected shower overtakes you, their $1.00 umbrella will just fit the emergency. Order work and repairing they do in the most workmanlike manner.

The Russian Importing Co., 429 Boylston St., offers an assortment of old and modern jewels, brass, copper, hand-made lace, needle and linen work in endless variety, also wood in endless variety of objects both useful and ornamental, and always unique and artistic, without a peer in this country. The genius of a whole empire can be seen at our establishment. Visitors always welcome.

Art and Novelty Shop, 368 Boylston St., are showing a fine line of Arts and Crafts Jewelry, also Mission Lamps. Theatrical Post Cards of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macular Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is tubbed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Weltch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont St., has the only up-to-date facilities for the storage of furs. This firm's long experience in the fur business is sufficient guarantee.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is a recognized authority on Ladies Gloves, Waists, Neck Wear, and Veils. In communication, as she is, with the best of the Foreign and American Manufacturers, gives her the opportunity to present to her customers things much in advance of the regular season, and whether you purchase or not you will always have courteous attention.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is a store worth visiting. Not only do they carry a fine line of trunks, including light weights for European travel, and wardrobe trunks, but they can show as good an assortment of all leather traveling goods as can be found in the city, and at prices no one can fail to appreciate. When the unexpected shower overtakes you, their $1.00 umbrella will just fit the emergency. Order work and repairing they do in the most workmanlike manner.

The Russian Importing Co., 429 Boylston St., offers an assortment of old and modern jewels, brass, copper, hand-made lace, needle and linen work in endless variety, also wood in endless variety of objects both useful and ornamental, and always unique and artistic, without a peer in this country. The genius of a whole empire can be seen at our establishment. Visitors always welcome.

Art and Novelty Shop, 368 Boylston St., are showing a fine line of Arts and Crafts Jewelry, also Mission Lamps. Theatrical Post Cards of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is tubbed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

Hewins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont St., has the only up-to-date facilities for the storage of furs. This firm's long experience in the fur business is sufficient guarantee.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

SECOND WEEK OF "A STUBBORN CINDERELLA," COLONIAL.

It seems to be a unanimous verdict that "A Stubborn Cinderella," which began an engagement at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, Monday, May 3, is the best musical play that has been seen in this part of the country for some time. Those who have seen it speak of it in the highest possible terms and as a pleased audience is the best possible advertisement, the business is only limited by the capacity of the theatre.

There is something to appeal to every taste in "A Stubborn Cinderella." It is described as a "musical play" but that conveys no idea of the manifold beauties of the piece. The first act, opening on a college campus is all life and springtime. The second act which occurs after a landslide in Nevada is one of the funniest acts ever written. The last act with the Orange Fete at Coronado, California, is irresistibly beautiful.

John Barrymore and Sallie Fisher have scored the biggest kind of a big hit. Mr. Barrymore has proven to be a comedian exactly to Boston's liking. His style is so new and original that it is a relief from the hackneyed comedy of the usual musical show. He keeps the audience in a constant chuckle broken only by peals of laughter.

Dainty little Sallie Fisher has won Boston's heart. Her voice is unusually sweet and musical—far above the average of musical comedy and her personality is the acme of magnetic.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

It was no easy task that the management of the Orpheum theatre set out to accomplish in arranging a bill for the coming week that could be equal to the all star bill of last week, but a glance over the list of headline features that have been secured is all that is necessary to convince the most skeptical that the task has not only been accomplished, but that last week's bill has been outdone. The headline feature will be Fred Karno's big comedy and pantomimic troupe in the success of two continents, "A Night In An English Music Hall." This act is not unknown to Bostonians who will readily admit that it is the funniest that has ever been imported from England. In reality it means two hours of rapid action compressed into the space of 30 minutes of roaring fun. There is not a dull second while these remarkable performers occupy the stage, and it is safe to say that no bill has ever been a failure on which this act has appeared. Jack Lorimer who is always a favorite with Bostonians, repeated his former success last week to such an extent that he has been held over for this week. He will offer an entirely new repertoire, and will introduce many London favorites that have not yet been heard here. This will be Mr. Lorimer's last week in America, after which he will sail for England to fill long contracts. The Three Yoscarrys will present an acrobatic turn of the different sort from most offerings.

AT THE Tremont Theatre

MISS MAY ROBSON

In The Greatest Comedy Success of the Season
"THE REJUVENATION OF AUNT MARY"

THINGS WORTH SEEING

MAY ROBSON AT THE TREMONT THEATRE.

Miss May Robson in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" keeps you laughing all the evening in the quaint role of Aunt Mary. The play is in three acts; the first and last take place in Aunt Mary's home in the country, and the second is laid in New York. The story is of a maiden lady who lives in the country, but has a nephew, "Jack," attending college in New York, who by the way, is a typical college sport, his latest scrap being with a cabman whom he beats "to a finish." To get out of this it cost "Aunt" $500.00, after this he promises to be a good boy, and things begin to look all right for him when, Aunt Mary's lawyer "pulls in" and tells her Jack is being sued for $15,000.00 for breach of promise with a "dame" he met in Chicago, and who comes from Kalamazoo. Then Aunt Mary makes things hum.

It is the cleverest show that has played Boston this season, and Miss Robson is at her best. The rest of the show is well balanced, and to miss seeing "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," means missing the one big success of this season.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

James J. Corbett, the man who once held the heavy-weight championship of the world will make his vaudeville debut in Boston at the Orpheum Theatre this week. Like all other celebrities who have gained their reputation in other lines of work, Mr. Corbett met with all sorts of obstacles in his efforts to convince the public that he possessed dramatic talent. Mr. Corbett will have for a vehicle, the one-act playlet, "A Thief In The Night," which furnishes ample opportunity for a display of his talents. He will be supported by his own company and carries elaborate scenery. Fred Karno's London comedy company will present a new act, "A Night in the Slums of London." It is impossible to adequately describe this wonderful act, it is so full of comedy, acrobatics, singing and in fact every sort of entertainment, that there is not a dull second while it occupies the stage. Juliet? the wonderful mimic, who created a remarkable sensation at the Orpheum two weeks ago will return by popular request. The balance of the bill will include such all star acts as Hill & Sylvany, in their refined unicycle act; Kenney & Hollis, the original college boys; Martin brothers experts on the Xylophone, and others. (See next page.)

Strangers in our city who wish to see Historic Boston and its beautiful suburbs, should go on the special sight-seeing trolley car that leaves Park Square at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Particulars on back cover.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, make to order fashionable garments for men and women. No matter for what purpose you require a suit ready to put on, you can find it at the above named firm.

Miss M. F. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is a recognized authority on Ladies Gloves, Waists, Neck Wear, and Veils. In communication, as she is, with the best of the Foreign and American Manufacturers, gives her the opportunity to present to her customers things much in advance of the regular season, and whether you purchase or not you will always have courteous attention.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is a store worth visiting. Not only do they carry a fine line of trunks, including light weights for European travel, and wardrobe trunks, but they can show as good an assortment of all leather traveling goods as can be found in the city, and at prices no one can fail to appreciate. When the unexpected shower overtakes you, their $1.00 umbrella will just fit the emergency. Order work and repairing they do in the most workmanlike manner.

Art and Novelty Shop, 368 Boylston St., are showing a fine line of Arts and Crafts Jewelry, also Mission Lamps. Theatrical Post Cards of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, are now showing their light weight overcoats for spring, also new styles in automobile and storm coats.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, whether the laundress will ruin the shape of it the first time it is tubbed. On this account it pays to get such garments at reputable houses where the tailoring is well done.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Weltch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont St., has the only up-to-date facilities for the storage of furs. This firm's long experience in the fur business is sufficient guarantee.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

E. H. SOTHERN AND JULIA MARLOWE AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE.

For this his second and final week at the Majestic, E. H. Sothern presents the following plays: Monday and Friday evenings, "If I Were King;" Tuesday and Saturday evenings, "Richelieu;" Wednesday evening, "Lord Dundreary;" Thursday evening, assisted by Julia Marlowe, "Romeo and Juliet;" Saturday matinee, assisted by Miss Marlowe, "Hamlet."

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Several of the artists who are to appear at the Orpheum Theatre next week will say their farewell to the Hub, for it will be their last appearance in Boston this season, and for some of them it will be their last appearance for many seasons. That Broadway Comic Opera favorite, Emma Carus, will come back again to show that she has not forgotten the warm welcome she received on her last visit here and incidentally, Bostonians will show that they have not forgotten the jolly and care-free Emma. She has been called the singer of personality and certainly her wonderful success must be ascribed to this personality. Another big favorite will be Cliff Gordon, the German tenor, who will present an entire new offering of observations. Gordon is not a stranger to Boston and it is safe to say that everyone who has laughed at his tongue twisting comedy will come again to laugh some more. Maude Odell, the ten thousand dollar beauty, so called because she won the ten thousand dollar Sandow prize for being the most perfectly formed woman in the world, will be seen in a new and interesting demonstration of physical culture. She will introduce six startling poses, the sort that have made New York sit up and take notice. The original American Lorenzo, Harry Brown will present the sprightly rustic comedy, "The Village Doctor." He will be assisted by a company of capable players and is sure to prove a big feature on the bill. Other acts that are of the headline variety are the Three Dumonds known as the Parisian Street Minstrels, Charles and Nellie King, singers and dancers, recently of the "Mimic World" and Halliday and Curley the polite comedians who will present Edward Gallagher's successful travesty, "The Battle of Too Soon." The balance of the bill will be up to the high Orpheum standard. See bill on page 4.

Strangers in our city who wish to see Historic Boston and its beautiful suburbs, should go on the special sight-seeing trolley car that leaves Park Square at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Particulars on back cover.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. F. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is a recognized authority on Ladies Gloves, Waists, Neck Wear, and Veils. In communication, as she is, with the best of the Foreign and American Manufacturers, gives her the opportunity to present to her customers things much in advance of the regular season, and whether you purchase or not you will always have courteous attention.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is a store worth visiting. Not only do they carry a fine line of trunks, including light weights for European travel, and wardrobe trunks, but they can show as good an assortment of all leather traveling goods as can be found in the city, and at prices no one can fail to appreciate. When the unexpected shower overtakes you, their $1.00 umbrella will just fit the emergency. Order work and repairing they do in the most workmanlike manner.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, make to order fashionable garments for men and women. No matter for what purpose you require a suit ready to put on, you can find it at the above named firm.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Weltch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

The establishment of Kakas Bros., 179 Tremont St., has the only up-to-date facilities for the storage of furs. This firm's long experience in the fur business is sufficient guarantee.

The Men's and Boys' furnishing goods shown by Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington St., is of the best qualities and strictly up-to-date. Fine shirts a specialty.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Billy Clifford fresh from his starring triumph in "The Girl at the m," will come to the Orpheum Theatre this week bringing with an entire new repertoire of songs and stories. The European ation, Lind? will be another pleasing number. Lind? has for some e had the theatre-going people guessing as to his or her sex. eing divinely and singing in a clear soprano voice. Maude Lam- , known as the girl with the velvet voice because of the beautiful lity of her tones, is one of the most delightful personages on the ce. She was formerly with the Henry W. Savage Opera Company ing her enviable reputation as prima donna of that company. Coates Grundy's Watermelon Trust has been called America's favorite red act, and if there are any better acts they have never been in ton this season. Lee Kohlmar will make his debut in vaudeville, senting "A Lesson in German." We are all familiar with Mr. lmar as the original "August Poons" in the "Music Master." Latell, the unique comedian; the Kohler Trio, operatic soloists, and eral other big acts make up the balance of the bill.

"A BROKEN IDOL" AT THE TREMONT THEATRE.

As an antidote for hot weather B. C. Whitney's big musical ravaganza "A Broken Idol" which comes to the Tremont Theatre week for an indefinite run, is said to be away ahead of anything discovered by science, either medical or otherwise. With over y pretty and vivacious chorus girls, a score of principals who know the country over and with gorgeous costumes and mag- cent scenic effects, the piece promises some startling surprises r what is usually expected from a musical production. Otis lan, the rotund, jolly comedian will occupy the position of star. e prima donna will be Miss Alice Yorke, who if she repeats her k in Chicago will certainly captivate her Boston audiences. Among decided novelties that will be introduced, is a real balloon as- sion, the huge inflated bag soaring over the heads of the audience. Other novelty will be a monster dragon which after disporting lf around the stage for a time, evolves itself into a score of atiful girls. "A Broken Idol" is the work of Hal Stephens, rry Williams and Egbert Van Alstine, and is said to be the c thing that Mr. Whitney has ever produced.

Strangers in our city who wish to see Historic Boston and its atiful suburbs, should go on the special sight-seeing trolley car leaves Park Square at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Particulars on back er.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

AT THE ORPHEUM.

No more important vaudeville engagement has ever been announced for Boston than that of James K. Hackett, America's most popular actor who with his former star, E. M. Holland, will appear at the Orpheum Theatre this week presenting "The Bishop's Candlesticks," a playlet founded on Victor Hugo's Les Miserables. Mr. Hackett's advent into vaudeville has been the big theatrical surprise of the season. For years he has been one of the bulwarks of the legitimate stage, doing more to uplift the drama than any other single figure on the stage. From a most successful star he developed into a manager as well, having under his wing some of the best actors and actresses in the country. Mr. E. M. Holland was one of these who was starred by Mr. Hackett and it will be particularly gratifying to local theatregoers to find the actor-manager and his star appearing together. The playlet of "The Bishop's Candlesticks" is the work of Norman McNeill who has taken the plot from an episode in Victor Hugo's masterpiece. Despite the extraordinary engagement of Mr. Hackett and Mr. Holland, the balance of the bill will be up to the high Orpheum standard. It will include that phenomenal double-voiced singer, Toye. This remarkable woman will make her debut in Boston and is sure to create just as big a sensation as she did in New York. She has a wonderful baritone voice which glides smoothly to the most remarkable soprano. Collins and Hart who were members of "Little Nemo" company will be seen in their laughable travesties, "Watch The Cat." This is undoubtedly the funniest of vaudeville teams and a sure laugh winner. That musical comedy couple, Charles Besnah and Julia Miller; Burton, Burton and Jordan, comedy musical artists; Swan and Bamhard, acrobatic comedians, and other big features will complete this great bill.

Vesta Tilley is a feature of the vaudeville at Keith's this week. "The Traveling Salesman," continues at the Park. This is the third week of "The Geisha," at the Castle Square. Lulu Glaser in the new operetta, "Mlle. Mischief," is a continuance at the Majestic, this being the second week. B. C. Whitney's big musical success, "A Broken Bowl," with Otis Harlan, is on at the Tremont.

Strangers in our city who wish to see Historic Boston and its beautiful suburbs, should go on the special sight-seeing trolley car that leaves Park Square at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Particulars on back cover.

SHOPPING NEWS

The old established firm of John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston Street, show a summer line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's goods. A special line of Ladies' Underwear, and also Misses' and Children's Millinery at greatly reduced prices.

Miss M. F. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is a recognized authority on Ladies' Gloves, Waists, Neck Wear, and Veils. In communication, as she is, with the best of the Foreign and American Manufacturers, gives her the opportunity to present to her customers things much in advance of the regular season, and whether you purchase or not you will always have courteous attention.

The Boston Trunk Depot, 207 Tremont St., is a store worth visiting. Not only do they carry a fine line of trunks, including light weights for European travel, and wardrobe trunks, but they can show as good an assortment of all leather traveling goods as can be found in the city, and at prices no one can fail to appreciate. When the unexpected shower overtakes you, their $1.00 umbrella will just fit the emergency. Order work and repairing they do in the most workmanlike manner.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, make to order fashionable garments for men and women. No matter for what purpose you require a suit ready to put on, you can find it at the above named firm.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

Millar & Welch, the opticians at 38 West Street, are offering a choice line of Opera Glasses, Window Thermometers, Reading Glasses and other optical goods. Their prices are reasonable and their goods first class.

A place worthy of visiting while stopping in town is H. A. Winship's at 16 Tremont Street. The choice and exclusive line of leather goods is extraordinary.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

At the Majestic Theatre, this city, beginning June 14th, with matinees Saturday, will be seen a new comic opera by Reginald De Koven and Edward Paulton. It is called "The Yankee Mandarin," and is to be presented by the Comstock Amusement Company. It has been staged by Joseph Herbert.

The scenes of the new opera are laid in China; the first act at the seaport of Foo Choo, the second in the palace of the Mandarin overlooking the Hoang-Ho River. The plot is strikingly original it is said and in its working out there are introduced a band of suffragettes from America, U. S. naval officers, high class Chinese mandarins, executioners, river pirates and a bevy of pretty Chinese dancing girls. The music is said to be a marked departure from De Koven's previous work and it has a catchy and popular quality that is sure to appeal. The management has provided an exceptionally strong cast which numbers among the list Miss Ada Lewis, Edward Garvie, William Danforth, George Lydecker, Violet Seaton, Irene Dillon, Frank Belcher, Clara Schroeder, Margaret McKenzie, Mabel Atkinson, Lillian West, Mary Moon, Anise Harris and a beauty chorus of fifty.

"The Yankee Mandarin" is here for a run and summer prices prevail, 200 good orchestra seats at 50c.

The Lindsay Morison Stock Company will open the summer season at the Orpheum Theatre on Monday with a matinee, producing Geo. W. Broadhurst's screaming farce, "What Happened to Jones." The history of stock productions in Boston during the last fourteen years would be incomplete without a chapter, and a very important chapter, on what Mr. Morison has done in this particular line of entertainment. His wonderful success with the Empire Stock Company three years ago, gave that Company a reputation which extended far beyond the limits of Boston, and his wonderful organization last season, known as the Boston Theatre Stock Company, was pronounced by critics, the greatest in the country. During the summer he will have with him many of the old favorites who have been with him in the past and all of these will take part in "What Happened to Jones." The leading male role will be taken by Howell Hansel, and in the matter of a leading lady, Mr. Morison has been most fortunate in securing Edna Bruns, the charming niece of Francis Wilson and his leading woman during the past two seasons.

Strangers in our city who wish to see Historic Boston and its beautiful suburbs, should go on the special sight-seeing trolley car that leaves Park Square at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Particulars on back cover.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Gem Shop, 601 Boylston St., Copley Square, have on exhibition a beautiful collection of Antique Jewelry and rare gems from all parts of the world. No other store in Boston can equal this collection, and it is well worth one's time to pay this shop a visit. Strangers are always welcome whether they come to buy or admire.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

The old established firm of John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston Street, show a summer line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's goods. A special line of Ladies' Underwear, and also Misses' and Children's Millinery at greatly reduced prices.

Miss M. F. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is a recognized authority on Ladies Gloves, Waists, Neck Wear, and Veils. In communication, as she is, with the best of the Foreign and American Manufacturers, gives her the opportunity to present to her customers things much in advance of the regular season, and whether you purchase or not you will always have courteous attention.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, make to order fashionable garments for men and women. No matter for what purpose you require a suit ready to put on, you can find it at the above named firm.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

Hewins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

A place worthy of visiting while stopping in town is H. A. Winship's at 16 Tremont Street. The choice and exclusive line of leather goods is extraordinary.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

De Olde Fern-Croft Inn

HOW TO REACH FERN-CROFT BOSTON TO FERN-CROFT

To reach Fern-Croft Inn by automobile, the most direct route from Copley Square is to run east on Boylston St. by the Public Gardens and the Common, through Tremont Street, by the North Station, to Charlestown Bridge; then follow the Elevated Railroad to Sullivan Sq., the terminus of the road; then take the road to the right, leaving the Terminal Station on the left. This is the old Newburyport turnpike. Continue on this road to a conspicuous sign-post which points the way to Fern-Croft Inn, a half mile to the left. Although this is the most direct route and through the country, if one wishes to make the run along the shore, from Copley Sq. go to Cambridge and West Somerville, then take the Revere Beach Boulevard, close to the water, to Lynn; thence to Salem, Danvers and Fern-Croft Inn.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

The Lindsay Morison Stock Company at the Orpheum Theatre will this week present that prettiest of all rural plays, "Home Folks," a four-act drama by C. T. Dazey, author of "Old Kentucky." This play has been pronounced by competent critics to be better than the "The Old Homestead," which of course is saying a great deal when the tremendous popularity of Denman Thompson's remarkable play is taken into consideration. However that may be "Home Folks" is about as delightful a picture of rural life as it is possible to place on a stage. Through it all runs a love story in which there is intrigue and deception, but it of course ends happily. The scene of the play is laid in Illinois and the story told is that of a city girl, Ruth Clayton, who is forced to leave St. Louis because her brother is falsely accused of a crime. The real criminal, who is the villain in the play, is in love with Ruth and to shield himself does everything possible to place the guilt upon her brother. There is one girl, Sis Durkee, who knows the secret but several times when she was on the point of telling it she is prevented and thus the solution is delayed until the last act. In the rural settings ample opportunity is offered for many of the pastimes that go to make country life so delightful. Among the novelties will be the village band and a real steam boat lying at the bank on the river. School children, village boys and farmer boys will add a great deal of local color to the scenes presented. Howell Hansel will play the part of John Selby, the Illinois farmer, while Edna Bruns will essay the character of Ruth Clayton. William Hasson will play old Nat Niels, the richest man in Red Oak township, while James L. Seeley will be seen as old Nat's nephew. Mary Sanders will be seen in one of her favorite boy parts as Bert Hopkins the nephew of Mr. Selby's hired girl. Other prominent favorites in the cast will be Walter Walker, Rose Morison, Katherine Clinton, James Devine, Wyrley Birch, Louis Thiel and others.

The John Craig Stock Company at the Castle Square presents that musical favorite, "Florodora."

"The Yankee Mandarin," De Koven and Paulton song show, continues its run at the Majestic. At the Park "The Traveling Salesman" remains to please large audiences. B. C. Whitney's musical success, "A Broken Idol," is on for its summer run at summer prices at the Tremont.

Amusement of all kinds may be obtained from a visit to Paragon Park, Wonderland, Lexington and Norumbega Parks.

Strangers in our city who wish to see Historic Boston and its beautiful suburbs, should go on the special sight-seeing trolley car that leaves Park Square at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Particulars on back cover.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Gem Shop, 601 Boylston St., Copley Square, have on exhibition a beautiful collection of Antique Jewelry and rare gems from all parts of the world. No other store in Boston can equal this collection, and it is well worth one's time to pay this shop a visit. Strangers are always welcome whether they come to buy or admire.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Miss R. Butler, "The Hair Store," 29 Temple Place, the most comfortable, commodious and convenient establishment in Boston devoted exclusively to the sale of hair goods and toilet requisites, and for treatment of the face and scalp. Shampooing, hair dressing, manieuring.

Macullar Parker Company, 100 Washington Street, call attention to garments for hot weather ready to put on. Serges, blue and black flannel coats and trousers, alpaca coats, white vests, etc., etc.

The old established firm of John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston Street, show a summer line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's goods. A special line of Ladies' Underwear, and also Misses' and Children's Millinery at greatly reduced prices.

Miss M. F. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is a recognized authority on Ladies Gloves, Waists, Neck Wear, and Veils. In communication, as she is, with the best of the Foreign and American Manufacturers, gives her the opportunity to present to her customers things much in advance of the regular season, and whether you purchase or not you will always have courteous attention.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

The oldest and most reliable leather goods house in Boston is that of H. A. Winship, at 16 Tremont Street. Trunks, bags and dress suit cases, also a complete line of souvenirs that are very unique.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

Hevins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

De Olde Fern-Croft Inn

HOW TO REACH FERN-CROFT BOSTON TO FERN-CROFT

TO reach Fern-Croft Inn by automobile, the most direct route from Copley Square is to run east on Boylston St. by the Public Gardens and the Common, through Tremont Street, by the North Station, to Charlestown Bridge; then follow the Elevated Railroad to Sullivan Sq., the terminus of the road; then take the road to the right, leaving the Terminal Station on the left. This is the old Newburyport turnpike. Continue on this road to a conspicuous sign-post which points the way to Fern-Croft Inn, a half mile to the left. Although this is the most direct route and through the country, if one wishes to make the run along the shore, from Copley Sq. go to Cambridge and West Somerville, then take the Revere Beach Boulevard, close to the water, to Lynn; thence to Salem, Danvers and Fern-Croft Inn.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

The Lindsay Morison All Star Stock Company at the Orpheum Theatre will this week present an elaborate production of Olga Nethersole's famous success, "Sapho," adapted from the much talked of novel of Alphonse Daudet. In the version to be presented many of the objectionable features of the original will be eliminated, but in its place a great deal of wholesome comedy will be injected. Manager Morison is determined that the version which his Stock Company will present will be as beautiful and refined as any ever offered in the past. It will retain all the emotions and pathos that have placed "Sapho" in the list of the world's great master plays. The leading role of Fanny LeGrand, or "Sapho" will differ slightly from the interpretation given it by Miss Nethersole but will still retain the more human and refined emotions with which the character has so long been associated. Miss Edna Bruns, the new leading lady of the Stock Company will essay the character of "Sapho," and in it Bostonians will have the first opportunity of seeing what she is capable of doing in a strong emotional role. Those who have seen her in "Mrs. Dane's Defence," and in other powerful plays certainly need have no doubt as to the success she will achieve in the role of "Sapho." The opposite role of Jean Gaussin, "Sapho's" lover, will be portrayed by Mr. Howell Hansel and that it will be well handled goes without saying. Other favorites in the cast will be James Seeley, Mary Sanders, Rose Morison, Walter Walker, William Hasson, Katherine Clinton, James Devine and Wyrley Birch. Every scenic detail that has characterized the great production of "Sapho" in the past will be found in the Lindsay Morison production this week.

To those who desire to see Boston and the surrounding locality, also to enjoy a ride on the finest trolley system in the world, take the Sightseeing Trolley Trip, leaving Park Square daily at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. See full particulars on back cover.

SHOPPING NEWS

The Gem Shop, 601 Boylston St., Copley Square, have on exhibition a beautiful collection of Antique Jewelry and rare gems from all parts of the world. No other store in Boston can equal this collection, and it is well worth one's time to pay this shop a visit. Strangers are always welcome whether they come to buy or admire.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

Miss R. Butler, "The Hair Store," 29 Temple Place, the most comfortable, commodious and convenient establishment in Boston devoted exclusively to the sale of hair goods and toilet requisites, and for treatment of the face and scalp. Shampooing, hair dressing, manicuring.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, call attention to garments for hot weather ready to put on. Serges, blue and black flannel coats and trousers, alpaca coats, white vests, etc. etc.

The old established firm of John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston Street, show a summer line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's goods. A special line of Ladies' Underwear, and also Misses' and Children's Millinery at greatly reduced prices.

Miss M. F. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is a recognized authority on Ladies Gloves, Waists, Neck Wear, and Veils. In communication, as she is, with the best of the Foreign and American Manufacturers, gives her the opportunity to present to her customers things much in advance of the regular season, and whether you purchase or not you will always have courteous attention.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

For Trunks, Bags and Leather Goods the shop of W. A. Winship, at 16 Tremont Street, is easy the leaders in this line. In business since 1842. Always reliable.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit, of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

De Olde Fern-Croft Inn

HOW TO REACH FERN-CROFT BOSTON TO FERN-CROFT

To reach Fern-Croft Inn by automobile, the most direct route from Copley Square is to run east on Boylston St. by the Public Gardens and the Common, through Tremont Street, by the North Station, to Charlestown Bridge; then follow the Elevated Railroad to Sullivan Sq., the terminus of the road; then take the road to the right, leaving the Terminal Station on the left. This is the old Newburyport turnpike. Continue on this road to a conspicuous sign-post which points the way to Fern-Croft Inn, a half mile to the left. Although this is the most direct route and through the country, if one wishes to make the run along the shore, from Copley Sq. go to Cambridge and West Somerville, then take the Revere Beach Boulevard, close to the water, to Lynn; thence to Salem, Danvers and Fern-Croft Inn.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Miss Edna Bruns at the Orpheum Theatre with the Lindsay Morison Stock Co.

When all the men in an audience exclaim, "Isn't she a peach!" and all the women look at each other and say, "Isn't she lovely,"—it is a bet that the actress they are talking about is both capable and popular. This is the case with Edna Bruns, the new leading lady of the Orpheum Theatre. Miss Bruns combines all the qualities that are essential in a leading lady. In the first place she is unusually tall,—of the Gibbonesque type—and she has the magnetism that fascinates. She is versatile to a remarkable degree, has a sweet soprano voice, is vivacious and knows how to wear beautiful gowns. Every member of the Lindsay Morison stock company is telling of her fitness and womanliness behind the scenes, and this is something unusual, for as a general thing members of stock companies take pleasure in saying spiteful things about the others. But with Edna Bruns it is different.

At the Orpheum Theatre for three weeks she has given every evidence of unusual ability. She inherits much of this, for her uncle Francis Wilson, the great comedian, whose leading woman she has been for several years. One would naturally think that to be the leading lady in a stock company was the acme of one's ambitions, if one was an actress, but this does not appeal to Miss Bruns. She wants to be a soubrette. She has found that she has a fondness for character work, and has achieved success in such roles. It is said that within a few weeks Miss Bruns is to have the opportunity of creating a role in a new play to be given at the Orpheum for the first time on any stage. It is what is called "an ingenue lead," which will give full scope to her powers as a character actress and to her ambition to be an ingenue. Miss Bruns will appear in Willie Collier's famous play, "Caught in the Rain," the current week.

To those who desire to see Boston and the surrounding locality, and to enjoy a ride on the finest trolley system in the world, take Sightseeing Trolley Trip, leaving Park Square daily at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. See full particulars on back cover.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

For Trunks, Bags and Leather Goods the shop of H. A. Winship, at 16 Tremont Street, is easily the leaders in this line. Over fifty years in business. Always reliable.

The Gem Shop, 601 Boylston St., Copley Square, have on exhibition a beautiful collection of Antique Jewelry and rare gems from all parts of the world. No other store in Boston can equal this collection, and it is well worth one's time to pay this shop a visit. Strangers are always welcome whether they come to buy or admire.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

De Olde Fern-Croft Inn

HOW TO REACH FERN-CROFT

BOSTON TO FERN-CROFT

To reach Fern-Croft Inn by automobile, the most direct route from Copley Square is to run east on Boylston St. by the Public Gardens and the Common, through Tremont Street, by the North Station, to Charlestown Bridge; then follow the Elevated Railroad to Sullivan Sq., the terminus of the road; then take the road to the right, leaving the Terminal Station on the left. This is the old Newburyport turnpike. Continue on this road to a conspicuous sign-post which points the way to Fern-Croft Inn, a half mile to the left. Although this is the most direct route and through the country, if one wishes to make the run along the shore, from Copley Sq. go to Cambridge and West Somerville, then take the Revere Beach Boulevard, close to the water, to Lynn; thence to Salem, Danvers and Fern-Croft Inn.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Miss Edna Bruns at the Orpheum Theatre with the Lindsay Morison Stock Co.

If Mr. Lindsay Morison, sole lessee and manager of "The Lindsay Morison All Star Stock Co.," now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, could suddenly change his mind from producing high-class drama and comedy plays, to that of a modern up-to-date musical show, he would have to go out of his present cast of players to secure a prima donna. For luckily for him, Miss Edna Bruns, his leading lady, not only being an actress of exceptional ability, but she also possesses a clear, soprano voice of such a quality, that it would be hard to locate in any musical organization of today.

Miss Bruns has had serious intentions of taking up the operatic stage, but was prevailed upon by her uncle, Mr. Francis Wilson, one of America's foremost comedians, to develop the high dramatic ability which he was sure she possessed; thus the opera loss was the drama's gain. This week Miss Bruns will portray the leading female role in "The Ensign;" here a high-class military drama and her work will be eagerly watched by the many patrons of the Orpheum. This will differ entirely from any which Miss Bruns has as yet played while connected with this company; there is no doubt but that she will distinguish herself, as she has in her previous successes with this celebrated organization.

To those who desire to see Boston and the surrounding locality, and to enjoy a ride on the finest trolley system in the world, take Sightseeing Trolley Trip, leaving Park Square daily at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. See full particulars on back cover.

De Olde Fern-Croft Inn

HOW TO REACH FERN-CROFT

BOSTON TO FERN-CROFT

To reach Fern-Croft Inn by automobile, the most direct route from Copley Square is to run east on Boylston St. by the Public Gardens and the Common, through Tremont Street, by the North Station, to Charlestown Bridge; then follow the Elevated Railroad to Sullivan Sq., the terminus of the road; then take the road to the right, leaving the Terminal Station on the left. This is the old Newburyport turnpike. Continue on this road to a conspicuous sign-post which points the way to Fern-Croft Inn, a half mile to the left. Although this is the most direct route and through the country, if one wishes to make the run along the shore, from Copley Sq. go to Cambridge and West Somerville, then take the Revere Beach Boulevard, close to the water, to Lynn; thence to Salem, Danvers and Fern-Croft Inn.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Mr. James Devine, Comedian, with the Lindsay Morison All-Star Stock Co. at the Orpheum Theatre

There is nothing so welcome to the average "tourist" while sightseeing in a strange town or city, as some place of amusement, where he, or she, as the case may be, can enjoy a good laugh, it gives as a tonic to that "tired" feeling which one is bound to experience during the daily travels, and Mr. James Devine, comedian of the Lindsay Morison All Star Stock Co., now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, can deliver the goods in large packages, and from an inexhaustible supply.

Mr. Devine is without question the most versatile comedian on the American stage today; it matters not to him whether the part be Irish, Dutch or Negro, he can get the laughs and lots of 'em. His recent success as the colored waiter in "Caught in the Rain," will long be remembered. We are in hopes before the present season's summer stock is over, that Mr. Morison will produce some play, where Mr. Devine can show his excellent talent as a "Dutch" comedian, this particular character is Mr. Devine's "Long Suit" and will be welcomed by his many friends and admirers in Boston.

Mr. Devine will appear in this week's mammoth production of "Joan Arc," which will include in the cast of one hundred and twenty-such well known people as Miss Edna Bruns, Mr. Howell Hansel, Walter Walker, and Miss Rose Morison.

This will be the sight of all sights, not only for the "Tourist" but for the residents of Boston and surrounding suburbs, and our advice is, "Don't fail to see it."

To those who desire to see Boston and the surrounding locality, and to enjoy a ride on the finest trolley system in the world, take the Sightseeing Trolley Trip, leaving Park Square daily at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. See full particulars on back cover.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. E. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is having an Opening of Ladies' Taffeta Flannel Waists; a new material delightfully thin and while washing like a Cotton Waist is absolutely unshrinkable; they come in all colors in attractive models, being made to Miss Fisk's order for the mountains, sea shore and automobiling.

Miss R. Butler, "The Hair Store," 29 Temple Place, the most comfortable, commodious and convenient establishment in Boston devoted exclusively to the sale of hair goods and toilet requisites, and for treatment of the face and scalp. Shampooing, hair dressing, manicuring.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, call attention to garments for hot weather ready to put on. Serges, blue and black flannel coats and trousers, alpaca coats, white vests, etc., etc.

The old established firm of John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston Street, show a summer line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's goods. A special line of Ladies' Underwear, and also Misses' and Children's Millinery at greatly reduced prices.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paintings, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabric and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns in lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

Herwins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries in waists and gowns.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

For Trunks, Bags and Leather Goods the shop of H. A. Winship at 16 Tremont Street, is easily the leader in this line. Over fifty years in business. Always reliable.

The Gem Shop, 601 Boylston St., Copley Square, have on exhibition a beautiful collection of Antique Jewelry and rare gems from all parts of the world. No other store in Boston can equal this collection, and it is well worth one's time to pay this shop a visit. Stranger are always welcome whether they come to buy or admire.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, blue China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston St.

De Olde Fern-Croft Inn

HOW TO REACH FERN-CROFT

BOSTON TO FERN-CROFT

To reach Fern-Croft Inn by automobile, the most direct route from Copley Square is to run east on Boylston St. by the Public Gardens and the Common, through Tremont Street, by the North Station, to Charlestown Bridge; then follow the Elevated Railroad to Sullivan Sq., the terminus of the road; then take the road to the right, leaving the Terminal Station on the left. This is the old Newburyport turnpike. Continue on this road to a conspicuous sign-post which points the way to Fern-Croft Inn, a half mile to the left. ¶ Although this is the most direct route and through the country, if one wishes to make the run along the shore, from Copley Sq. go to Cambridge and West Somerville, then take the Revere Beach Boulevard, close to the water, to Lynn; thence to Salem, Danvers and Fern-Croft Inn.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

See "Joan of Arc" at the ORPHEUM THEATRE with EDNA BRUNS
 as the "Maid of Orleans"

In its second triumphant week, "Joan of Arc," as played by the Lindsay Morison All Star Stock Co. at the Orpheum Theatre, is truly marvelous, and places Mr. Morison's players in the front rank of theatrical organizations, for never before in this city did any Stock Company ever attempt to produce, without dire results, such a mammoth and elaborate production as this current attraction, "Joan of Arc." Staged by Jos. W. Walsh, America's foremost stage director, complete and finished to the smallest detail. See Miss Bruns in the second act enter on her "Milk-white" Charger directing her forces from the saddle in a truly military-like manner. See Howell Hansel in the role of the "Jester," the most remarkable piece of character work Mr. Hansel has ever done, and Miss Beverly West as the "Angel," is worth going miles to see. This production of "Joan of Arc" is the most wonderful play that has ever been produced in the United States. Miss Maud Adams & Co. played a single performance at the Harvard Stadium to 30,000 people, but the vastness of the place made it impossible to hear even a line, the result was this great historic play was nothing more than pantomime, but in the play given by Mr. Morison's players you can hear every line to the last syllable, see every move taken by the different artists and follow the thread of the story from the rise to the fall of the curtain in the last act. Don't miss seeing this mammoth and spectacular show.

To those who desire to see Boston and the surrounding locality, also to enjoy a ride on the finest trolley system in the world, take the Sightseeing Trolley Trip, leaving Park Square daily at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. See full particulars on back cover.

SHOPPING NEWS

Miss M. E. Fisk, The Red Glove Shop, 322 Boylston St., is having an Opening of Ladies' Taffeta Flannel Waists; a new material delightfully thin and while washing like a Cotton Waist is absolute unshrinkable; they come in all colors in attractive models, being made to Miss Fisk's order for the mountains, sea shore and automobilin

Millar & Welch, at 38 West Street, are showing a large line of Field Glasses, Telescopes and Barometers. Their Telescopes for veranda use, at the seashore and mountains are very useful and attractive.

The Gem Shop, 601 Boylston St. (Copley Sq.), carry without doubt, the choicest and rarest collection of precious stones in the city, as to the particular stone which is to be considered appropriate to each month usages differ, and those different gems can be procured in large or small sizes at the above named place.

Hewins & Hollis, at 4 Hamilton Place, are showing a complete line of English neckwear that will appeal to men of discriminating taste.

For correct styles in Men's Furnishings one naturally goes to Blanchard, King & Co.'s, 250 Boylston Street. Their Ladies' Department is becoming noted for a choice variety of hand embroideries, waists and gowns.

There is no question but that Raymond & Whitcomb Company, whose office is at 306 Washington Street, next to the Old South Church, maintain the best equipped and most complete ticket office for railroad and steamship tickets in the city. Correct information will be furnished with pleasure.

The soft Oriental materials to be seen in Davis' East India House, 373 Boylston Street, near Arlington Street, are different from anything to be found elsewhere, and one finds there, also, beautiful embroideries and many interesting novelties, from many parts of the world.

For Trunks, Bags and Leather Goods the shop of H. A. Winship at 16 Tremont Street, is easily the leaders in this line. Over fifty years in business. Always reliable.

Miss R. Butler, "The Hair Store," 29 Temple Place, the most comfortable, commodious and convenient establishment in Boston devoted exclusively to the sale of hair goods and toilet requisites, a specialty for treatment of the face and scalp. Shampooing, hair dressing, manicuring.

Macullar Parker Company, 400 Washington Street, call attention to garments for hot weather ready to put on. Serges, blue and black flannel coats and trousers, alpaca coats, white vests, etc., etc.

The old established firm of John J. Stevens & Co., 300 Boylston Street, show a summer line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's goods. A special line of Ladies' Underwear, and also Misses' and Children's Millinery at greatly reduced prices.

The shop of Walter Kimball & Co., at 19 Arlington St., will be found distinctive in its line and a very interesting place to visit. Paints, Water Colors, Etchings, and Bric-a-Brac always on sale.

The spring and summer suits now shown at L. P. Hollander & Co.'s, Boylston Street and Park Square, include all the latest fabrics and designs for this season. Linen suits and up-to-date gowns of lawn and mull and other delicate fabrics bid fair to be increasingly fashionable in 1909. It is well to consider, in buying such a suit of all the leading stars, the only place you can get the originals.

The Antique Store, 390 Boylston St., appeals to those who are searching for unique pieces of old furniture, Sheffield plate, bric-a-brac, China and quaint bits from Colonial days. It is under new management and offers especially low prices during the summer. The Antique Store is one of the places of interest to visit while strolling on Boylston
